Just Like In The Movies

Last week the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences (NARAS) released the list of nominees for the 26th Annual Grammy Awards. Michael Jackson's triumphant year was officially crowned with 12 nominations, a testament to an album that has created a new sales high-water mark internationally. And while Jackson's bonanza says a great deal about this past year and where we are now, we shouldn't overlook the fact that the 346 nominees for this year's awards cover a broad range of music on over 100 labels, the largest number of record companies ever represented in the Grammy voting.

While it's essential that we have records like "Thriller," it's also of paramount importance that we get the greatest mileage out of all types of music. Beyond the crop of promising bands that we have — including such nominees as Eurythmics, Men Without Hats, Big Country, and Culture Club — we can't afford to ignore such categories as jazz, classical. blues, and ethnic music.

Each year, the motion picture industry manages to generate a tremendous amount of interest and publicity for films in contention for the Academy Awards. Just last year, with the assistance of the National Assn. of Recording Merchandisers (NARM), we finally began to mobilize ourselves as an industry for a generic yet product-specific promotion built around the Grammys. Results were promising, though far from what they could have been.

Can we afford to pass up an opportunity like this when the entire country and many overseas markets are tuned-in to our product? Obviously not. We have to show people that "Thriller" is our E.T., that we have our own musical equivalents of screen superstars, and that music is every bit as exciting and essential as the film world. We have to borrow a page from the motion picture industry. We have to do it just like in the movies.

ON THE COVER

'NFL Football' is the first of the new generation of video games being introduced by Bally Midway, one of the industry's foremost manufacturers of coin-operated amusement machines.

The game theme portrays all of the offensive and defensive strategies of this exciting sport, complete with actual NFL film footage which provides the tv sportcaster's play-by-play as well as crowd noises and play action from Chargers-Raiders contests to literally put the player into the true feel of participating with some of the nation's most popular football heroes. As Robert E. Mullane, Bally's president and board chairman put it, NFL Football allows the player to "live out the armchair quarterback's dream." Mr. Mullane is pictured with the model.

This outstanding, new video game reflects the combined efforts of the Bally organization (which brought to the market such historic pieces as "Space Invaders" and "Pac-Man"), NFL, and RCA, whose Random Access Videodisc player is being utilized for the first time in the amusement game market.

Disc/Cassette Sales Figures Continue To Approach Parity

by Jim Bessman

NEW YORK — Entering 1984, the point spread between disc and tape album product continues to narrow, if not disappear altogether. Some retailers, in fact, have now passed the point of parity in their disc and tape sales and now show cassette equivalents outselling albums by a 3:2 margin. Others are still a ways from the 50:50 balance, but no one disputes the fact that cassette sales are continuing to increase in relation to album sales.

Tape-to-disc sales ratios also continue to show variations according to music genre and customer demographic, such that a major chain can find that certain stores sell cassettes over albums by huge percentages which are not reflected in chainwide totals. The most popular music categories for cassette sales are hard rock and heavy metal, with catalog, country, and MOR product selling more albums than cassettes.

The four-store Rolling Stone retail group in Phoenix, headed by Jeff Lake, together with the Seattle-based DJ's Sound City chain, reported the biggest cassette-over-disc figures, both at 60:40. Lake immediately credited his high cassette percentage to the good weather in Phoenix, a contributing factor to portable stereo cassette players "being a big number out here." He pointed at certain album releases including current ones by Quiet Riot, Michael Jackson, Rolling Stones, and Yes as new release product that sold much better in cassette configuration, and added that while his 600-piece initial order on Van Halen's "1984" was evenly split between records and tapes, the tapes had sold out in four days while albums still had a couple of days before clearance.

Lake said that disc/tape parity had been reached there six months ago, but that the last 60 days had really seen a big gain in cassettes with his estimated pre-Christmas season 55:45 cassette-to-LP ratio changing to the current numbers. At Sound City, general manager Steve Mesmer said that the 50:50 point had been reached last December and that cassette sales had gradually increased in the following year, with the introduction of open cassette merchandising, to the current 3:2 cassette margin. He added that a 4:2 margin could be expected there in the next year.

The Denver-based Budget Tapes & Records chain reached cassette parity about a year and a half ago, and according to president Evan Lasky, remains there or "a touch higher" at 51 percent of the total album product sales. Unlike Lake, however, Lasky has observed a traditional drop-off of cassettes sales during the Christmas season, due to the perception of gift buyers that discs have more gift value than cassettes. Though Lasky has usually seen discs jump to a 2:1 lead over cassettes during Christmas, this year he found that cassettes backed off only four points from parity such that LP's led the way 54:56, when greater LP sales had been anticipated.

Record Bar, with some 150 stores, is another chain with cassette sales ahead of disc, in its case by 52:48. Tom Holloway, inventory analyst for the Durham, N.C.-headquartered chain, sided with Lake in his report that new product came in with cassettes stronger than discs, Record Bar showing a 54:46 percent breakdown in this category. Catalog sales, however, were approximately equal by configuration, while best-selling product was weighted in favor of cassette. In Phoenix, Lake discerned a whopping 70:30 catalog gap in favor of LPs, due to consumers being "paranoid that they can't get a cassette on catalog so they buy a blank tape to go with the album."

Like most dealers contacted, John Grandoni, vice president of the Buffalo-based Cavages chain, recognized the increased cassette strength in hard rock and heavy metal titles, which had reached parity and beyond over discs at the chain. However, it had not been until 1983's fourth quarter that Cavages had begun to see the big shift to cassettes experienced elsewhere throughout the U.S. He attributed this to Buffalo's colder, snowier clime which has so far curtailed the Walkman-type, boombox crowd. But a fourth quarter cassette pickup, led by such heavy metal cassette leaders as Quiet Riot and Def Leppard, has brought the total cassette business up to the 35-40 percent range, from a previous 20-35 percent. Thus, for the first time at Cavages, the initial Van Halen LP order was equal in cassette and disc amounts, and Grandoni expected this product type buy-in pattern to continue, as well as an expansion of catalog cassette holdings and increased

Jackson Tops Grammy Field With Twelve Nominations

by Fred Goodman

NEW YORK — The National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences (NARAS) announced its nominations for the 26th annual Grammy Awards last week. Not surprisingly, Epic recording artist Michael Jackson led the pack of nominees, receiving a total of 12 nominations for his mega-platinum "Thriller" album and its attendant singles. A total of 346 nominations in 67 categories were released, representing artists on over 100 labels.

Joining Jackson's "Beat It" in the Record of the Year category were: "All Night Long" by Lionel Richie; "Every Breath You Take" by The Police; "Flashdance. . .What A Feeling" by Irene Cara; and "Maniac" by Michael Sembello. Nominated for Album of the Year were: "Let's Dance" by David Bowie; "An Innocent Man" by Billy Joel; "Synchronicity" by The Police; the original soundtrack album from Flashdance; and Jackson's "Thriller."

The strength of the Jackson recordings also carried producer Quincy Jones into the circle of multiple nominees, garnering him six nominations. Other artists receiving several nominations were Lionel Richie and Michael Sembello, each with five; The Police, Wynton Marsalis, Sir George Solti and Itzhak Perlman each received four nominations. Trumpeter Marsalis is the first artist in Grammy history to receive nominations in both the jazz and classical fields.

Mirroring Record of the Year nominations was the New Song of the Year category, comprised of "All Night Long," "Every Breath You Take," "Maniac," "Beat It," and "Billie Jean."

For the first time in NARAS history, all five nominations in the Best New Artist of the Year category went to groups: Big Country, Culture Club, Eurythmics, Men Without Hats and Musical Youth.

Second round ballots to determine winners in each category were mailed to NARAS members last week. Winners will be announced February 28 during the three-hour telecast of "The Grammy Awards Show" on CBS-TV. The program will once again be hosted by John Denver.

Murdoch Fights To Gain WCI Power

LOS ANGELES — Rupert Murdoch's heretofore "passive" investment in Warner Communications, Inc. (WCI), has evolved into concerted effort to take over the financially troubled entertainment conglomerate.

In his most recent filing with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), the Australian millionaire said he is considering waging a proxy fight against WCI "to influence the management or aquire control" of the company. Until now, Murdoch pledged he was interested in WCI for "investment purposes only." (His $100 million "investment" in Warner has already appreciated to over $125 million in little more than a month). Oddly enough, however, despite his continued interest in WCI, and possessing the largest percentage of Warner stock (7 percent) Murdoch still has not requested a seat on the company's board of directors.

Murdoch's News Corp. is also suing both WCI and Christ-Craft Industries, Inc. (CCI) to stop the proposed sale of 42 percent of CCI's broadcasting subsidiary to WCI in exchange for a new issue of WCI stock representing about 19 percent of the company. In the suit, filed in the state of Delaware (WCI's state of incorporation), News Corp. alleges the sole purpose of the WCI-CCI transaction is to protect the company from an unfriendly takeover attempt and to ensure the security of WCI chairman Steve Ross and other top level Warner executives. Furthermore, Murdoch believes WCI initiated the deal with CCI to undermine his plans to buy Warner since foreigners are not allowed to control U.S. broadcasting properties.

In its first countersuit against Rupert Murdoch and his investment banker, Allen & Co., attorneys for Warner Communications, Inc. (WCI) alleged the flamboyant entrepreneur and his broker have violated several laws on both the state and local level. Furthermore, the lawsuit, filed in the state of Delaware, also seeks to prohibit Murdoch from buying more stock in WCI and requests he sell the approximately 133,000 shares (seven percent) of the company that he already controls.

Murdoch, the suit contends, never eyed WCI as serious "investment" but rather only as an opportunity to take advantage of the stock's low price and participate in "a planned scheme and conspiracy . . . apparently designed to inflate artificially the value of (his) investments . . . and manipulate the market."

'Meet The Music' Vid Show Bows

LOS ANGELES — A new pop music interview program entitled "Meet The Music," is being offered for syndication to commercial broadcasters and cable television operators.

" 'Meet The Music' is an artist profile — exclusively," said Joey Berlin, the show's interviewer. "We don't just rely on the same old music clips that everyone shows. 'Meet The Music' uncovers the human essence beneath the professional exterior of pop music's hottest acts. Using a wide variety of visual cut-ins, state-of-the-art effects and excerpts from current videos, 'Meet The Music' interviews paint enduring pictures of each artist — and his or her view of life, love, and music."

Laura Branigan, Southside Johnny, and Marshal Crenshaw will be featured on the pilot show.

The company's offices are located at 211 West 56th Street, New York, NY 10019. His telephone number is (212) 246-7358.

Sony To Slash Video 45 Prices

LOS ANGELES — Sony Corp. said it will cut the suggested retail price on all video 45s in the VHS format from $19.95 to $16.95 and raise the price on its releases in the Beta configuration from $15.95 to $16.95.

While Sony's new Video 45s, the latest being a collection of David Bowie songs, have experienced mixed success when marketed through the traditional video retail-rental stores, they are quickly gaining acceptance among record retailers who are finding many customers for the new product.

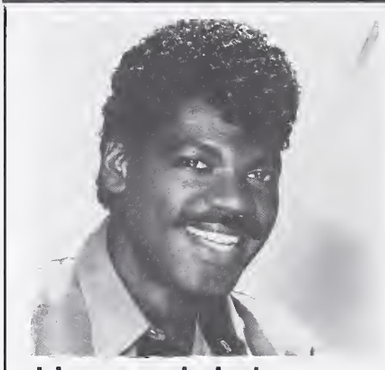
To aid inventory conscious music stores, Sony Software, the distribution arm of the concern, is offering mixed packages offering a wide variety of releases under one purchase order.

BMI Extends Radio License

NEW YORK — Broadcast Music, Inc. (BMI) has extended its existing radio licensing agreements to March 31, 1984.

In a letter sent to all radio licensees, Lawrence Sweeney, vice president, licensing, BMI, announced that the extension would be replaced by a new licensing agreement, which is now expected to be completed by the end of the extension period.

NEW FACES TO WATCH



Howard Johnson

Howard Johnson is not one to follow others. In fact, Johnson has been striving to assert his own individuality as a musician ever since he began his career nearly a decade ago. With the release of his latest solo LP, "Doin' It My Way," Johnson continues to prove himself as an innovator in R&B music and one who is not afraid to experiment with new styles.

Hailing from Florida and raised on gospel music, Johnson says his style is due primarily to the fact he has "never tried to imitate any particular vocalist." In a similar vein, the recording artist says, there are very few contemporary artists he even likes to listen to outside of Aretha Franklin and the Little River Band.

Prior to coming to A&M as a solo artist in 1982, Johnson was associated with two other R&B groups, Tornader, which he joined in 1977 and then Niteflyte which consisted of him and artist/composer Sandy Torano. It was with Niteflyte that Johnson had his first coast-to-coast hit called "If You Want It," which he also co-wrote. Johnson describes his musical partnership with Torano as "sophisticated, ahead of its time." While he said he learned a lot while performing and composing with Torano he found he "could not fulfill the needs and dreams" he had as an artist. In 1982, he left Niteflyte and began a solo career.

Shortly after, he was signed by A&M and released his first LP for the label, "Keepin' Love New," which spawned the Top 5 black/contemporary single "So Fine." "The first album ('Keepin' Love New') showed me I could reach that core R&B audience," said Howard. "What happened with 'So Fine' really boosted my confidence, because I never considered myself a singer of dance-oriented material. I grew up singing gospel, classical and middle-of-the-road songs, but I never really thought I had that much excitement until I got onstage after 'So Fine.'

Johnson's followup LP "Doin' It My Way" continues to highlight the singer's versatile abilities as a purveyor of popular dance oriented music, but also makes plenty of references to his gospel roots, especially on the title track "My Way."

One of the most danceable songs on "Doin' It My Way" is "Let's Take Time Out," the first single off the album, which is currently charting on the Cash Box list of the Top 100 Black Contemporary singles at #33 bullet. "Let This Dream Be Real" and the title cut are also considered sizzling dance tunes. The LP also has fewer slower numbers such as "Much Too Much" and "Jump Into Fire" and in these mid-tempo ballads, Johnson describes his voice as "a little fuller and more expressive."

The material for "Doin' It My Way" was written by Mic Murphy and David Frank, members of the popular group System.

Johnson is currently in New York where he is preparing for a nationwide tour that will commence sometime in February or March.

APM-RRM Update

LOS ANGELES — In a Jan. 9 statement issued by Associated Production Music (APM), it was announced by Lester Sill and Sam Trust that a preliminary injunction has been issued against Regent Recorded Music, Inc., pending determination of a lawsuit filed in California Superior Court against Regent by Bruton Music, Ltd. This injunction, ordered by Judge Leon Savitch, prohibits Regent from exercising any rights in the Bruton Music Background Library.

Bruton, which is owned by ATV Music Ltd., entered into a license agreement in 1978 with Regent, dba Regline Music Co., which gave Regent the right to represent the Bruton Library in the United States. Upon expiration of that agreement on October 1, 1983, Bruton entered into an agreement with Associated Production Music, a joint venture formed by ATV Music Corp./Welbeck Music Corp., and Screen Gems EMI Music/Colgems EMI Music, for the purpose of supplying recorded background music. ALBUMS

OUT OF THE BOX

TOUCH — Eurythmics — RCA AFL1-4917 — Producer: David A. Stewart — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

The groundbreaking U.K. techno-art-rock group takes its U.S. sophomore exam with this followup to last year's "Sweet Dreams" success story, and the combo passes with flying colors. Annie Lennox's intense yet soothing vocal work combined with synthmaster Dave Stewart's virtuoso instrumental makes this LP a worthy successor to '83's smash, containing a number of immentently catchy compositions filled with intelligent, urgent lyrics that decry the state of modern love. The album features nearly an hour's worth of music, including such highlights as the tale of a drug addict ("Agua"), a junkanoo/reggae-type excursion ("Right By Your Side") and a ballad about jealously ("Who's That Girl").

NEW AND DEVELOPING

PLAYBACK — SSQ — Enigma E 1046 — Producer: Jon St. James — List: 8.98

SSQ is the first project to come under the aegis of last year's collaborative pact between major EMI and indie label Enigma Records, a high-tech band fronted by a forceful female vocalist named Stacey Swain. While the synths are given most of the attention on the platter, Swain's carressing vocals shine through on several cuts and seem right in step with current trends melding emotional singing with cold, distant electronic-pop. Influenced by such groups as Human League, Missing Persons, Soft Cell and Berlin, it's easy to see how dance-conscious avant-hipsters could embrace the new aggregation, particularly with the exotic appeal of the lithe Ms. Swain. "Big Electronic Beat" is the first single culled from the LP.

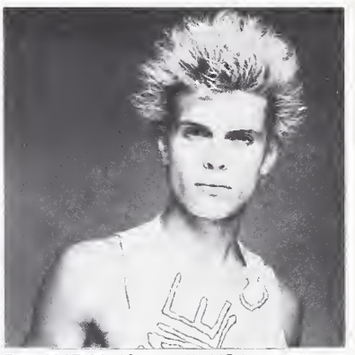
SINGLES

OUT OF THE BOX

KIM CARNES (EMI America P-B-8191)
You Make My Heart Beat Faster (And That's All That Matters) (3:58) (Moonwindow Music/Zomba Enterprises Inc. — ASCAP) K. Carnes-D. Ellingson-M. Page-B. Fairweather) (Producer: Keith Olsen)

Hot off her Grammy nomination for best female rock vocal on the preceding hit "Invisible Hands," Kim Carnes maintains the pace in the followup from the current "Cafe Racer" LP. Momentum is kept, as might be surmised from the title, by a steady, unflagging heartbeat drum clip combined with a funky bass boogie. The tune also chugs along on crisp Police-textured instrumental work, especially in the chorus, which is further supported by similarly styled backup vocals. Carnes even adopts Sting's hollow-toned "whoa" cries as a lead in to each verse.

NEW AND DEVELOPING



BILLY IDOL (Chrysalis VS4 42762)
Rebel Yell (3:43) (Boneidol Music/Rock Steady Music/Rare Blue Music — ASCAP) (Idol/Stevens) (Producer: Keith Forsey)

A shortened version of his current album's titletrack finds Idol continuing in his emergence as a top new music vocalist/songwriter with commercial appeal. The tune combines the tough swagger and high-powered drive of "White Wedding" with the decadent dance focus of "Dancing With Myself" in its tale of a midnight hour encounter with a little dancer/angel who comes armed with a license for love applied with a rebel yell. Hard rock guitars and pumped up keyboards drive the story forward at full-throttle, but the real highlight is Idol's confident vocal prowess, which reaches up to a high-end heavy metal rasp.

FEATURE PICKS

POP

VISTAMIX — Bill Nelson — Portrait BFR 39270 — Producer: Bill Nelson — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

Commercial success has always eluded Bill Nelson, but the creative multi-talented, performer-writer-producer, has come up with a slick package of varied, appealing music that might finally bring him the recognition he deserves. The album is rife with hot songs, such as the quick paced "Acceleration," or the haunting "Empire of the Senses." Those who still yearn for the days of Nelson's former band Be-Bop Deluxe won't be disappointed, since he employs many of his old techniques, such as mysterious voices popping up over tight, mind boggling instrumentals.

I GOT A RIGHT — Iggy Pop — Invasion/Enigma E1019 — Producer: James Williamson — List: 8.98

A must for any Iggy fan, "I Got A Right" includes six "extracts" from the 1975 out of print LP "Kill City" along with five tunes recorded during the early 1970s with The Stooges in Detroit. Out of control, his mind and the world, the Ig admirably demonstrates here the raw energy and joyous vulgarity he brought to the rock scene a decade ago which influenced everyone from David Bowie to the Ramones, and eventually evolved into the punk movement. Followers of Pop should appreciate much on the disc, especially the alternative version of the artist's subterranean hits such as "Gimme Some Skin" and the title track. Visceral rock for vivacious people.

SEND FOR THE DOCTOR — Doc Pomus — Whiskey, Women, and . . . Records — KM 700 — Producers: Dan Kochakian, Doc Pomus & Mr. R&B — List: 8.98

Subtitled "The Early Years 1944-55," this collection of R&B sides cut for numerous labels chronicles some of the work Pomus did as a vocalist in the Joe Turner bag before he established himself as a songwriter with hits for The Coasters, Dion & The Belmonts, The Drifters, and Elvis Presley. Pomus is robust throughout, and the supporting cast includes Sam "The Man" Taylor, Taft Jordan, Rex Stewart, Bill Doggett, King Curtis, and Chuck Wayne.

THE COUP — The Coup — A&M-SP-4978 — Producers — Jeffrey Lesser and Barry Goldberg — List 8.98 — Bar Coded

Few mainstream Rockers could miss the appeal of The Coup's debut album. Backed by Barry Goldberg's strong keyboard playing, Greg Sutton's lead vocals prove both powerful and versatile. From hard-driving rockers like "Don't Back Up," to the soulful "(I've Really Got To Use My) Imagination," and "Cryin' Time Is Here," The Coup appear to be a band headed for commercial success. Other cuts suitable for AOR outlets include "Dangerous Games," "Love Is A Danger" and "Edge Of The Night."

THE EXPRESSION — The Expression — A&M SP-6-4975 — Producer: Charles Fisher — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

Don't let the first listen fool you — this isn't just another synthesizer-dominated electronic band. Sure, it comes complete with haunting guitar solos, as well as Tom Haran's and Neville Downing's deep harmonies, all set to the background of an always present synthesizer, but it's evident Haran's lyrics have something important to say. For example, his "With Closed Eyes" states, "Hey now they're dancing in Red Square victory with foul rain in the air, and over in the Middle East they burn, crying out in Africa to learn." The group may not be the gulding light of the 80s, but the album is melodic, pleasant to listen to, and well written.

BLACK CONTEMPORARY

TYRONE DAVIS (Ocean Front OF 2004)
Let Me Be Your Pacifier (4:01) (Burton Music/Content Music/Tyronza Music — BMI) (Willard Burton, Willy L. Hitchcock) (Producer: Leo Graham)

Davis' soft-spoken, breathy promise to handle her gentle when she's sentimental and provide shelter in stormy weather is brought out with a suitably tender production, caressed along by subdued horn notes, bell-like keyboard tones, dreamy guitar chords, even the sound of falling rain. Sparing use of a backup chorus is also effective, especially high falsetto voices on the title's final word.

THE DELLS (Private I ZS4 04343)
You Just Can't Walk Away (3:41) (Baby Love Music/Yancie Toons/Lindee Music — ASCAP) (M. Yancy- C. Jackson) (Producer: Chuck Jackson and Marvin Yancy)

The Dells come up with an especially plaintive ballad, perfectly balancing Johnny Carter's high and Marvin Junior's low split lead vocals. Carter evocatively sets the action at the outset in describing his search for the gal that walked away, then Junior moans of the devastating effect the breakup has caused on his personality. Together, the soul stalwarts offer a convincing case for turning her around.

RUFUS AND CHAKA KHAN (Warner Bros. 7-29406)
One Million Kisses (4:12) (Almo Music Corp./March 9 Music — ASCAP) (J. Osborne-K. Murphy) (Producer: Russ Titelman)

Jeffrey Osborne and Rufus' own Kevin Murphy teamed in writing this fine love testament, one of four studio cuts on the "Rufus And Chaka Khan — Live Stompin' At The Savoy" LP. When Chaka states how "time has been good to us," she could just as well be singing about herself and Rufus as her love partner. And just as their romance has reached maturity, so have singer and group, as demonstrated when Chaka's rich, full-bodied lead vocal is beautifully backed by the group's dainty vocal chorus during the title phrase.

12-INCH REVIEWS

ROCKWELL (Motown 4515MG)
Somebody's Watching Me (4:57) (Jobete Music — ASCAP) (C.A. Nolan & Rockwell) (C.A. Nolan & Rockwell)

Title track from Rockwell's debut LP is a good bet for instant urban contemporary radio adds. The track relies on a simple but intriguing melody, spiced with a little of this and a little of that. The tongue-in-cheek tale of paranoia sounds like a graft of Coati Mundi and Prince, with a Michael Jackson-style hiccup support vocal. It works.

WORLD PREMIERE (Easy Street DEZS C 7506)
Share The Night (7:20) (Musical Properties/Rasaan/Intersong — ASCAP) (Bullock, Pittman) (Bullock, Pittman)

Having made their mark as a dance label with ethnic-oriented international rhythms, Easy Street Records takes a shot at more mainstream urban fare. "Share The Night" is well layered, exhibiting more depth than most singles; sophisticated vocal track is matched seamlessly with a multi-faceted instrumental backing. More strong sounds from a label to watch.

BRYAN LOREN (Philly World PWR 2016)
Lollipop Luv (5:21) (Philly World/Whiz Kid Music — BMI) (B. Hudson) (B. Loren)

The debut disc from Loren, a spirited and sophisticated track that avoids being overtly slick. Although a newcomer as a leader, Loren has worked with Nona Hendryx, Fat Larry's Band, Tavares, Harold Melvin & The Blue Notes and Cashmere.

POINTS WEST

HOORAY FOR HOLLYWOOD — Last year music played an integral part in movies perhaps more than any other year since 1978, when the disco dance movement flick Saturday Night Fever took the world by storm. In '83, Flashdance and Stayin' Alive picked up the gauntlet, while other music pics such as Best Little Whorehouse in Texas and Get Crazy attracted brief attention as well. This year, Hollywood has seen fit to offer music lovers over a dozen features which utilize pop, rock or country as a central theme, and since Points West is located in the heart of Tinseltown, it seems appropriate to give a quick rundown on what's in store cinemamusic-wise for 1984. Of course, all releases are tentative due to the erratic nature of the major movie studios but, nevertheless, you can expect most of these pictures to be out as scheduled. This month watch for New World studios to unleash My Love Letters starring Bud Cort and Jamie Lee Curtis in a story about a disc jockey working at a tiny L.A. radio station. Next month, be on the lookout for Angel with Stephen Rea, who portrays a pop singer who seeks revenge over the murder of his manager, and the Rob Reiner heavy metal spoof called Spinal Tap. The spring should see at least three music related movies hit the screens, including the Bizet opera Carmen starring Placido Domingo, Hard To Hold featuring Rick Springfield in his film debut, and Repo Man, a story about a Southern California punker who becomes the sidekick of a car repossessor. The troubled film Mike's Murder, which includes a magnificent score by Joe Jackson, is also scheduled to be released in the spring, although the Debra Winger vehicle has had its opening postponed several times over the last couple of years. As summer begins, watch for a number of music-oriented flicks such as the Harry Belafonte production of Beat Street, which celebrates the New York City street scene of break dancers, rappers, pop-lockers and dance clubs; Buckaroo Banzai, a comedy starring Peter Weller as a brain surgeon who moonlights as a rock and roller; Rhinestone, with Dolly Parton and Sly Stallone in roles of a country singer and a taxi driver; the long-awaited Walter Hill apocolyptic vision Streets of Fire, which includes Diane Lane, Michael Eddie and the Cruisers Pare and The Blasters in a tale of a soldier of fortune who roams the earth after a nuclear war has reduced the earth to rubble; Paul McCartney's Give My Regards To Broad Street, which stars the former Beatle as a crooner who's searching for the stolen master tapes of a new album; and a flick in the That's Entertainment mold called That's Dancing, which includes footage of exceptional dance sequences culled from the vaults of MGM. In the fall, Milos Forman is set to release the film version of the Peter Shaffer drama Amadeus, which chronicles the life of the classical composer Mozart. And, at the end of 1984, will emerge two films which should attract musically-inclined moviegoers — Francis Ford Coppola's Cotton Club, which examines the famed Harlem spawning ground for jazz and r&b artists, and Dune, the sci-fi epic starring The Police's Sting.

BEACH BOYS MOURN WILSON — Last week, the remaining members of the Beach Boys held an impromptu press conference to discuss their plans for the future in the wake of the death of drummer and group founder Dennis Wilson. The band said it was going into a period of mourning and would be back together in the spring. According to Carl Wilson, "We just want to take some time for our hearts to mend and start 1984 on a very positive note." He added that the group is going to postpone about a dozen dates it was scheduled to play beginning the end of the month, and replacement drummers will more than likely be Bobby Figueroa or Michael Kowalski, who replaced Dennis when he couldn't make it on other tours. Besides Carl Wilson, other members of the group who appeared at the press conference included Mike Love, Bruce Johnston, Al Jardine and Brian Wilson, the latter dressed quite nattily in a light grey suit and tie and seemingly several pounds lighter.

SHORT CUTS — As one of the most eclectic concerthalls in Los Angeles, McCabe's Guitar Shop usually offers music fans something different from the norm in most of its bookings, and 1984 is no exception. On Jan. 22 the venue plans two shows featuring acoustic sets by Slash recording act Los Lobos. On Jan. 27, eccentric art-rock combo The Fibonaccis take to the stage for two shows, and the next evening spotlights Cajun music with Jo-el Sonnier and Mike Doucet, along with Les Blank's film Spend It All. On Jan. 29, the second in a series of shows inspired by Harvey Kubernick's "English As A Second Language" spoken-word double-album will be presented, with poet Ivan C. Roth, Jewish/lesbian/folksinger Phranc and Black Flag-man Henry Rollins. The following Sunday, Feb. 11, is an all-acoustic evening with Peter Case of the Plimsouls sharing the spotlight with The Last's Joe Nolte. Rounding out the Jan.-Feb. schedule is a pair of shows by Van Dyke Parks on Feb. 18. For more info about any of these or other performances at McCabes, call the club's 24-hour concert information line at 213-828-4403 . . . Roger Williams was recently awarded the honor of "Best Popular Pianist of 1983" in Keyboard Magazine's Reader's Poll Awards. He gleaned the award for his critically acclaimed double album entitled "Ivory Impact," produced on Paul McCartney's MPL Communications label . . . Betsy Alexander, formerly publicity ace at I.R.S. Records, has started her own firm in Hollywood, but the address for it was erroneously listed in a recent East Coastings column. Those who wish to contact Ms. Alexander may do so by writing her at 7523 Hollywood Blvd., #313, L.A., CA 90046 or just call 213/874-5264.

EAST COASTINGS

A VISIT TO GREENWICH VILLAGE — As mentioned here last week, Manhattan club The Bottom Line will be trying its hand at a theatrical program next week when they present Leader of the Pack, an original two-act musical production based on the life and music of songwriter Ellie Greenwich. The show, with book by Melanie Mintz, is split between telling the story of Greenwich's career and marking her performance debut. Considering that Greenwich has also been a recording artist — she did all the vocals for The Raindrops and recorded a solo album for MGM — it's a surprise that she's never sung her songs in public. When we recently sat down to talk with Greenwich about the show and her career, we couldn't help expressing disbelief over her having never performed (after all, Alan Betrock's book "The Girl Groups" contains photos of The Raindrops with Cousin Brucle at Palisades Park). "Everything with The Raindrops was lipsynced," Greenwich said. "I've never come out live, even with my own album on MGM where I toured the country and Europe, it was strictly promotional. And for years people have been saying 'oh, why don't you do a show, why don't you perform?' So I thought about doing something but never really took it anywhere. Finally, Allan Pepper from the Bottom Line called me and said 'look, I don't know if you want to do a show, but I'd love to do one about you and your music. I'd love for you to be in it, but if not, I still want to do the show and we'll need your help getting the songs together and getting some stories from you. Think about it.' And I finally decided to let him do it. When I started working with the people involved with the show, they were so marvelous that I decided to go ahead and be in the second act." Among those performing in Leader of the Pack are Karla DeVito, Ula Hedwig, Darlene Love, Rory Dodd, Bobby Jay and Hank Martin, with Paul Shaffer acting as musical consultant. "Act one is theatrical," said Greenwich, "there's some acting and staging and the songs are in a sequence that tell the story of how I started with Jeff (Barry) and meeting Phil Spector and so on. The second half is more of a concert." Although the production is only slated for six shows at The Bottom Line, there's already talk of either taking it on the road or perhaps moving to an off-Broadway venue. The interest in Greenwich at this point is indicative of a twofold career: best known for her work in the early sixties when she penned innumerable pop classics including "Chapel of Love," "Maybe I Know," "Be My Baby," "Do Do Ron Ron," "River Deep, Mountain High," "And Then He Kissed Me," "Do Wah Ditty," and "Hanky Panky," her expertise and reputation as an author of material for female artists in particular has resulted in recent collaborations with Ellen Foley, Nona Hendryx and Cyndi Lauper. Is her re-teaming with female vocalists by design? "I think that people are thinking of me as the person who worked with so many girl singers," Greenwich reflected. "Like Lenny Petze called me about meeting with Cyndi Lauper, and Ellen Foley called me. So the girls naturally come to me looking for the pop/rock 'n roll kind of song. I didn't even seek them out." And does the songwriter feel that her renewed demand signals a return to the former team style of making a record, with producers, songwriters, arrangers, musicians, and singers combining to turn out a finished record rather than the singer/songwriter/producer/artist that characterized the seventies? "It's hard to second guess that kind of thing," Greenwich said. "I think the days of all the jobs being divided up are gone — everybody thinks they can do everything. But even though I find that, people still seek help from songwriters and producers. I think artists today have a lot more to say than they used to, but the respect for the producer, the songwriter, is starting to come back. People are looking for hit songs and it doesn't matter whether they're doing it with dance, new wave or 40,000 synthesizers — they're looking for a hit song." The change from team productions to individual artist efforts — as well as the dominance of the major labels — were among the factors that moved Greenwich out of the record sphere and into studio and commercial jingle work during the late sixties and seventies. "The minute the business became so big and if you weren't following in the footsteps of Carole King, where were you going to go? When heavy metal came in, all of us songwriters who did not write those kind of songs couldn't find a place for ourselves. So we continued doing our background sessions and got into doing some commercials and making our living that way. You say 'okay, let's take a rest for a while' and you hope and pray that the business will go through its cycle and come back. Which it always does if you have the patience. It's very frustrating. You may really have something in your heart, but what are you going to do with it? Those are the cold, hard facts, so you have to sit back." With the changes in the structure of the industry — outside of the strong 12-inch markets, there's scant room in the industry for young, unproven songwriters — could someone today replicate Greenwich's career? "No," she said, "and it's sad. Carole King, Neil Sedaka, Jeff, myself, we all came off the streets and we all had a dream and a bag full of songs. And we were all able to get in and see the Don Kirshners and Lieber and Stollers and be listened to. And if they heard something they liked, they'd take a chance with it. People aren't taking too many chances these days. Also, when I'm asked to compare the present with the sixties, I think back and feel we were all very innocent. We were what our music was, we didn't get bogged down with that much business.

YES, RHINO, THERE IS A SCROOGE BROS. — Enigma recording group The Scrooge Brothers recently visited Rhino Records store in Los Angeles. The bearded Scrooges are pictured presenting a copy of their "Commercial Christmasland" LP to store manager John Fritzmorris (c).

A PAIR OF JEMS — Two major new album releases marketed by Jem Records are being supported by unusual merchandising techniques. Support for "The Everly Brothers Reunion Concert" on the Passport label follows the stickering trend established with Dolly Parton's "Burlap And Satin" LP, which was released last year just ahead of her HBO special and was merchandised with a sticker tying in the album with the program. Jem's red sticker notes that the two-record Everly set, which was digitally recorded during the much-heralded Brothers' Sept. 23, 1983 reunion at London's Albert Hall, is "as seen in concert only on HBO." In-store posters are also available promoting the records and program, which is scheduled to begin showing on Jan. 14. As for Utopia Records/Passport's initial Utopia album release "Oblivion," Jem has a cross-marketing program in conjunction with Sony Video Software whereby each Utopia LP contains a Sony-provided insert detailing three Sony Video 45 releases — Todd Rundgren's "Videosyncracy," "The Utopia Sampler" and Bill Wyman's self-titled three-song video release. According to John O'Donnell, Sony's national manager of video software operations, Sony has taken the spec sheets normally sent to its own dealers and placed them in the Utopia albums — at a cost of a penny each — as a test to see if the record buyer will buy the video. Not only is the cost per impression low, says O'Donnell, but a similar co-promotion between A&M's "Synchronicity" Police LP and I.R.S. Video's "Police Around The World" succeeded in selling 3,000 pieces of the video through the album inserts. O'Donnell further notes that Vestron used the device in its promotion of "Grace Jones One-Man Show." He says that when the video for "Crybaby" from "Oblivion" is completed, it will be stripped into the existing three-song Utopia Video 45. "When the current inventory runs out we'll withdraw it from the market for 30 to 40 days, then put it out again with the new video and a big sign that it includes the new video," says O'Donnell, adding that the album inserts will also be reworked. "This way we can extend the life of the product for people who might buy the video based on the new album." The insert, which features the Rundgren, Utopia, and Wyman videos because they are all managed by the same team in Los Angeles, will also be available in the album's cassette form as part of the fold-out flap. Sony will further support the disc and tape with TV commercials and Utopia in-store appearances at various video outlets in conjunction with a group tour in April. It may also help sponsor promotions in specific markets, such as in Seattle where it is currently providing tapes as prizes in a radio station contest. An additonal Jem/Sony tie-in concerns Sony's forthcoming "Rick Derringer's Rock Spectacular" hour-long videocassette, which contains footage of a Derringer-designed concert at Manhattan's The Ritz with various guests including Karla DeVito, Southside Johnny, Carmine Appice, and Ted Nugent. Sony will provide similar album inserts to go in Jem's "Good Dirty Fun" Derringer album, and has already split the cost of posters featuring both the LP and full-length video, which have been distributed to both audio and video product retailers . . . At CES, Sony announced that it was dropping the price of its VHS format Video 45s from a suggested list of $19.95 to $16.95, and that it was upping its beta format for the product from $15.95 to the same $16.95 pricepoint to end the discrepancy. Dealer margins have also been increased four points, from 23 to 27. For full-length music video cassettes, the price for both formats is $29.95

GREAT AMERICANS — Kenn Wolfe, advertising and promotion director for Minneapolis' Great American Music Co. stores, credits a novel "record and tape exchange" promotion for "making December happen for us." The promotion, which ran from Dec. 26 through Jan. 2, allowed customers to bring in any unopened album or tape which had been purchased anywhere into any Great American or Wax Museum and trade it for "the one they really wanted." Sales during the promotion were "way, way up," says Wolfe, noting that had it not been for the exchange, December would most certainly have been down due to Minneapolis' record cold and snow. He attributes the promotion's success to an emphasis on humorous TV commercials which enacted out gift recipients' frustrations at receiving unwanted albums. As for which album was returned most frequently, Wolfe guesses that it was Michael Jackson's "Thriller." "Every parent figures that every kid wants 'Thriller' because it's been the biggest album for so long. But half the country already has it, so a lot of parents must have found that their kids already bought the album eight months ago." . . . December was also a "tremendous" month at Great American in terms of sales of rock 'n roll radio station KQRS-FM merchandise, according to the chain's associate buyer Kathy Orlowicz. She says that just under 1,000 pieces of station promotional wear including t-shirts, jackets, muscle sweats, and hats were sold at the stores in exchange for a multitude of on-air mentions. "Look for ski hats soon!" chirps Orlowicz.

PROMOTIONAL EPYX — The Epyx, Inc. computer software company has begun a "Buy One, Get One Free" consumer promotion giving away one of 28 selected games following the receipt of proof-of-purchase and a game box sticker from any Epyx game bought between Jan. 1 and Feb. 29. Company president and chief executive officer Michael Katz said that the promotion would help exploit the active shopping period following Christmas. "We plan to continue supporting our customers with promotions designed to generate over-the-counter retail sales," said Katz. "The January-February period provides high sales potential for software and we want to capitalize on the opportunity for maximum sales."

SOUNDVIEWS

A SHORTAGE OF VIDEO PRODUCT MAY BE IMMINENT — According to a recent study conducted by CBS/Fox Video, 90 percent of all feature films that grossed more than $25 million and made over the past 10 years have already been released in one form or another for the home video market. Additionally, more than 60 percent of the movies that have had revenues over $4 million and have been made since 1973 have also been sold for home use in the video format. Considering that the top 10 to 12 companies marketing home video product are averaging approximately 60 releases a month together and the major studios put out only about 120 movies a year, many of which are duds, the home video market may experience a shortage of "reel" product not to far away from now. Worse, the lack of product combined with the entrance and expansion of many new companies into the marketplace, eager to exploit the many opportunities the software has created on both the wholesale and retail levels, may quickly bid up the price for the little available product which is left to go around. The result, and this is the worse possible scenario, is that the consumer may refuse to accept the increased cost of software, especially now that he has been spoiled by lower prices, retailers are forced to cut prices and go out of business, and manufacturers of video product are left with tons of unsold product that they must unload at a loss. On the brighter side, however, as Sony senior vice president of consumer video products told Cash Box last week, the cost of videotapes and reproducing programming on them in mass quantities is coming down greatly. The continued penetration of VCRs into American households is also creating an increased demand for video product. So, manufacturers, knowing that their costs will be down and demand for their product up can afford to pay more to license the comparitively few motion pictures which will be released during the coming years. Or, as already has proven to be the case, we may begin to see a lot more made for video programming such as the CBS/Fox release the "Complete Guide to Dog Care" and of course videotaped volumes of Playboy and other adult-oriented material. Sony's video 45s are another example of nonstudio video product. At any rate, the home video market continues to show signs of robust behavior as we enter the new year and producers of this type of programming seem to be looking at an open ended market, at least for now.

TOOTSIE ROLL OUT — RCA/Columbia Pictures Home Video plans to release the box office hit "Tootsie" starring Dustin Hoffman some time this month. Pictured above in drag is Hoffman (r) as Dorothy Michaels aka Michael Dorsey and co-star/director Sydney Pollack (l) who plays Hoffman's agent in the movie. The suggested retail price for the feature length video is $79.95.

"E.T." RAISES THE STAKES — According to an article in the January 9 edition of the Hollywood Reporter, Andre Blay, president of Embassy Home Entertainment has offered Steven Spielberg and the films owner, Universal Pictures, $10 for the home video rights to the record breaking motion picture. "I'll give (Spielberg) $10 million for 'E.T.' tonight, and I'll sell five million $39.95 units," Blay was quoted at the Consumer Electronics Show held last weekend in Las Vegas . . .

DISC CERTIFICATIONS UP — The International Tape/Disc Association (ITA) distributed 33 Golden Videocassette Awards in 1983 compared to 11 in 1982. In addition, the trade group also gave out 12 Golden Videodisc Awards last year versus only five the year before. Requirements for videocassette certification are $1 million in sales at the wholesale level, and for videodiscs $1 million in retail sales. ITA, by the way, will be holding its 14th Annual Seminar, "Audio/Video Update 1984" from March 18 to 21 at the Hilton Riviera Hotel in Palm Springs, California.

MTV: BIRTHDAY TELEVISION — While making a guest appearance on MTV recently, John Couger Mellencamp (c) celebrated his birthday with the cable TV station's video jockeys Martha Quinn (l) and Nina Blackwood.

EXECUTIVES ON THE MOVE — Lisa Harman has been appointed manager of planning for RCA/Columbia Pictures Home Video. Harman will report to Rebecca Dragiff, director of planning . . . Andrew Schofer has joined Sony Video Software as marketing manager . . . Chaz Austin has been named western regional sales manager of Embassy Home Entertainment. He replaces Jim Brown who has been upped to director of sales. Robert Blay is the firm's new director of aquisitions and Louise Alaimo has joined the company in the newly created post of advertising and publicity manager . . . Chuck Pope has returned to Ampex Corp. as product manager, ½" video tape. Morgan Rees has been promoted to product manager for ¾" video tape after a three-year tenure with the company.

VIDEO HALL OF FAMERS — Arthur Morowitz, founder of Video Shack; Clive Sinclair, owner of Sinclair Research; and the late John Baird, inventor of the videodisc were all inducted into the Video Hall of Fame at a dinner dance held recently at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York City. Other members of the Video Hall of Fame include Nolan Bushnell, inventor of the videogame; the Ampex engineering team headed by Ray Dolby that developed the VCR; and Bing Crosby for his pioneering efforts in the videotaping of television shows.

REELIN' AND ROCKIN' — Sony and EMI Picture Music have concluded a deal giving Sony the right to issue Video 45s on 11 major rock acts, two major R&B acts and an assortment of other music video projects. Included are videos by David Bowie, Phil Collins, the Motels, Iron Maiden, the J. Geils Band, Sheena Easton, Naked Eyes, Kajagoogoo, Kim Carnes, Steve Miller, Thomas Dolby, Maze, and Ashford & Simpson . . . Vestron Video plans to release next month a collection of 14 videos entitled "Picture Music." The assortment will contain clips by Kim Carnes, Steve Miller, Billy Squier, Thomas Dolby, and the J. Geils Band. "Picture Music" will be available in VHS Stereo and Beta Hi-Fi and will carry a suggested retail price of $29.95.

Cherry Lane Music To Handle Proteus Books

NEW YORK — Cherry Lane Music has taken on Proteus Books for distribution in the U.S. and Canada. The line of rock 'n roll and film books currently includes approximately 30 titles, with an additional 40 planned for publication in 1984, and is priced between $3.95 and $11.95

In revealing the new line, Lauren Keiser, president of Cherry Lane, said her firm expects to sell in the "two-to-three million range" in the first year. "What we've found," said Keiser, "is that our accounts want the books, see the sales potential, but haven't been able to get a hold on enough product from one source. We feel that with Proteus we have a tremendous head start in the rock book business — I think we'll have the field to ourselves for a long time. Now we can offer retailers and wholesalers sheet music, music books and up-to-date rock 'n roll and film information books, providing a one-stop center for entertainment printed matter."

Court Grants Extension On Blanket Licenses

NEW YORK — A nine-month extension of blanket licensing for television stations was signed here last week by Judge Lee P. Gagliardi of the U.S. District Court. The new order, entered into with the consent of all parties in the Buffalo Broadcasting case, allows BMI and ASCAP to continue their present local TV blanket licensing until November 1, 1984. The court's original order, which would have voided blanket licensing for local stations, was to have taken effect on February 1. The case is presently before the U.S. Court of Appeals.

Buddy Killen

Country Publishing King

Tree International has not only been labeled the world's largest country music publisher for years, but constantly is one of the top award winners in the pop field every year. At the helm of the massive corporation is Buddy Killen who first joined the company 30 years ago for $35 a week and over the years has risen to sole owner, president and chief executive officer.

Killen came to Nashville in the early 50s immediately after graduating from high school and quickly went to work on the road for such artists as Moon Mullican, Cowboy Copas, Ray Price, Jim Reeves and Hank Williams, Sr. When not on the road he played bass on the Grand Ole Opry and wrote songs.

Since that time, he has become one of the most respected producers in town working with such artists as Ronnie McDowell, Billy "Crash" Craddock, T.G. Sheppard and Exile.

Besides heading up Tree, Killen also is on the board of several corporations, non-profit organizations, owner of Soundshop Recording Studios and The Stock Yard Restaurant. He also spends time each day working with a variety of charities including acting as chairman and cohost for the 1981, 1982, 1983 and 1984 Middle Tennessee Easter Seal Telethon.

During the Christmas holidays, Buddy Killen talked with Anita Wilson about his association with Tree International, its expansion into Los Angeles, and the changing role of the songwriter.

Cash Box: How long have you been with Tree?

Killen: I came to Nashville while working with the Grand Ole Opry as a bass player and Tree was founded in 1951 when nothing was really happening. I came along in the latter part of 1953.

Cash Box: How many writers do you have currently signed to Tree?

Killen: I don't know, something between 70 and 100. Close to 100.

Cash Box: What's the ratio of songpluggers to writers?

Killen: We have 7 or 8 pluggers.

Cash Box: Chappell had 6-7 writers and 3-4 songpluggers and consistently has 10 percent of the charts. Do you think you need that high of a ratio of songpluggers to writers?

Killen: Well, you've got to remember we've got about 100 writers but all of them aren't coming in every day with great songs. There's always about 25 percent of those who every day have songs you have to screen.

Cash Box: With over 50,000 songs in your catalog, do you plug mostly new material or the older tunes?

Killen: It's natural for people to pitch the new material because it's new and exciting, but we're always going back through the catalog to come up with new ideas on old songs because they're proven hits. We're always going to try to turn the catalog over because so many of the songs we've got are those over a million performances or close to a million performances and naturally we're going to try more on those because the earnings are greater.

Cash Box: Do you see the songwriter of today as any different than the past?

Killen: He's a much more sophisticated young man or woman. He's more well-educated. About a year ago, we had signed 14 new writers and 11 of them had music degrees. When I came to Nashville, if you had said do you know anything about music, a guy would have said, "Yeah, but not enough to hurt my playing or writing," And now, it isn't that way at all, it's a much more sophisticated. He knows more about the business aspects of it. He comes in with his lawyers and managers. Back in the old days, he didn't do that. You picked him up and you made a deal and that's all they knew. They were terrific — they wrote those songs from the heart that became classics that you hear today. But the new writer seems to be much more into the technical end of it, too. That can be good or bad, I don't know.

Cash Box: Do you think the new songwriter will be producing the classics as we knew in the past?

Killen: I think we're having less of those great songs that become overnight successes and jump out at you and you go around humming all the time. There will always be some of those. I think many writers are writing records instead of songs. They're writing the whole thing — all the technical pop stuff — it's more of a record than a great song. Country music produces the kind of song that lives forever and I think the great standards will keep coming from what we call the basic country writer. It gets to the heart.

Cash Box: Do you still write?

Killen: Yes, I still write every chance I get. I love to write.

Cash Box: Is it important for a publisher to be a writer?

Killen: Yes, I think it's very important to be a writer, and to be a musician. Over the years, if I could attribute anything to the success I've had, it would be because I started as a musician, then became a writer, entertainer, singer, producer, publisher and at one time owned a booking agency. It gives you a terrific overview of the business and helps you make decisions. I think to really make it as a publisher you have to have a good ear. You have to be able to recognize singer/songwriters in their raw form because if you don't recognize it before it's been developed then it's too late for you. Somebody else has already got it. So I've always been able to dig into that terrible demo and see the talent. Sometimes I get them too early and I feed them for 4 or 5 years and they get into the company too far and you can't continue to keep dumping money in there and 2 or 3 years later they pop up somewhere else, but you had them almost there but you couldn't hang on long enough.

Cash Box: How important do you think it is to make elaborate demos — does it really make a difference when plugging a song?

Killen: I don't think it's necessary at all for my ear. I would much rather that they come in with a guitar or a piano. I would rather hear the song, but it's become a way of life. I spend a fortune on our computerized, 24-track studio downstairs and its humming from early in the morning to late at night, and it costs me a fortune to do it. I think a lot of it is wasted and a lot of songs get in there that should never see the light of day. I think we should be much more particular about the songs that get in the studio. It's a proven fact that only a small percentage of the songs that you demo are going to be recorded. It's sort of a pacifier rather than a vehicle of communication. It pacifies the writer and shows him your support of him but it can get very expensive. It runs into thousands of dollars. It's like cutting a record.

Cash Box: You have just announced that Tree will be opening an office in Los Angeles in six months with Jeff Silbar in charge. Haven't you had problems opening an office there in the past? Why do you think that happened?

Killen: We didn't know the right people.

Cash Box: So you think Jeff will make a big difference?

Killen: Jeff is a brilliant young man and he's into what's been going on and he knows California and he's spent a lot of time out there. We have representation there now and there's a possibility we'll continue having both of them. And, I'm taking on another person who will be into the pop field, too. Everybody thinks of Tree as being strictly country and that isn't so at all. Because we're so big in country and we're so active in it and we've been number one for 11 years in a row here, everybody thinks that they should put us where we are and maybe our thrust hasn't been toward pop as much as we should have been, but every year we get all kinds of country awards for our pop songs but for some reason it always gets played down. I will be doing everything I can for us to get as many pop hits as we can and I'll spend money wherever I have to to do it. We got seven pop BMI hits last year and nobody knows it. Somebody beat us by two and that was a California company. That's pretty good, especially when you've also beaten out the world in country. I still don't know what they're trying to say.

Cash Box: Are your Nashville writers concentrating on country tunes or will they be doing more pop now with an L.A. office?

Killen: I've told my writers since the beginning of this company, don't come in here and try to write any particular kind of song. Write any kind that you want to write. If a writer says "I'm not going to write any pop songs because I can't get it recorded," then he has cut his throat and mine. I can take pop songs and get them cut overnight if the songs are good. I can't believe that there are great songs in our catalog not being recorded because I think my ear is too good for that. I hear all kinds of music. I love country music, I grew up on it and I strive to be the best that I can, but it's not the only kind I listen to. As a writer, producer, publisher — I want to be in tune with everything that's going on. I don't want to stick my head in the sand. I subject myself to all kinds of music. I've got one of the biggest rhythm and blues records that has ever been cut — multi-million sellers. I did that when nobody in Nashville was doing stuff like that. I'm a very progressive kind of thinker. I think my company would have to be the same way I am. We're not perfect but who is? If I've got the right songs, I'm going to go out there and get them cut by whoever that song will fit. The problem is getting the song for them.

Cash Box: Tree has recently purchased a computer system, what will yours be used for?

Killen: It will be doing everything. It's amazing, our accounting is in it already and we're programming it for everything. It will be so categorized that if you need a duet, all the potential songs will come up. It will save hours of research time because all you have to do is push a button.

Cash Box: Do you think computers will become necessary for all publishers?

Killen: I don't see how we've managed to deal with all this information manually for years. I don't know how we've done it. But I never even thought about it until we put this system in. You're up to date. Every day you can know where you stand financially, you can know so much because it's always at your fingertips.

Cash Box: What do you think will be happening in the publishing field in the future?

Killen: It's not going to be like it was. Its going to be tougher. Its getting harder every day because people at record labels are cutting back by about 50 percent. Everything is becoming so fragmented because the writers want to split the publishing into sixths and eighths of songs. We're in some sort of change right now. The singles are dying, but we'll always have our performances. We're always finding new ways of using music. But the business as I knew a few years ago won't be the same — its going to be tougher. Its the computer-age and I think you have to be mentally geared for it. You have to be looking for new ways to use a song. Its healthy — its the survival of the fittest. But there's always going to be music and a market for it, but the market is going to change. Tree has always been very agressive and we try to be the best at what we do and we are going to continue trying to do that. When you're on top, people love to shoot and I can handle that. We'll always be honest and straight and try not to step on anybody's toes as we continue our trend to success because we are proud of our writers and staff. Hopefully, we'll just keep on doing what we're doing. Things change, we'll change with them.

ASCAP Honors WNEW's Golden Anniversary

NEW YORK — The American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers (ASCAP) will celebrate the 50th anniversary of New York radio station WNEW with a reception at ASCAP's New York offices on January 17. The reception will honor the station for broadcasting half a century of popular American music, many of them ASCAP standards.

WNEW made its debut on February 13, 1934. Almost a year later, it became the first radio station to use a disc jockey, when Martin Bloch began the WNEW Make Believe Ballroom. It was also the first station to broadcast around the clock. Many singers received short-term contracts with WNEW in the mid-30s, including Frank Sinatra, Dinah Shore and Helen Forrest.

inventory on hit titles and new releases in general.

At Strawberries Records & Tapes in Boston, where cassettes are approximately 10 points behind discs but have been gradually building in sales since a tape promotion last spring, tape buyer Kevin Kecy said that some titles, usually along the lines of a Motley Crue, Quiet Riot, and Def Leppard, could go 2:1 cassette "once they start happening," and that greatest hits packages "usually do at least 1:1." He added that "supergroups are another thing altogether," and that 75 tapes are usually bought for every hundred discs initially with this type product with sales watched carefully the first week before making longer range projections.

Kathy Orlowicz, associate buyer at Minneapolis' Great American Music Co. stores, said that rock and A/C LPs were still ahead of tapes by 2:1, though heavy metal acts like Iron Maiden, Ronnie Dio, Motley Crue and Quiet Riot were turning the tables. She said that soundtrack product was "a little bit evener, almost one and a half LP to one cassette."

Sound City's Messmer spoke of a "subtle difference between the cassette and LP buyer" and noted the R&B and hard rock buyer's mobility as the cause for his predilection for cassettes. Country and MOR music buyers, on the other hand, were less inclined toward cassettes, one reason being that "there's still a significant number of older people in this area with 8-track players." He adds that this demographic is also "slower to change" prerecorded formats than younger groups.

But George Turner, cassette buyer for the National Record Mart chain based in Pittsburgh, felt that older age groups were beginning to come around in terms of cassette buying. Although hard rock "naturally" superceded all other music types in a cassette sales picture that is currently at parity with disc sales, his projected daily gain in cassettes from here on in could be largely attributed to cassette hardware newly obtained by older consumers. "No question about it, a lot of older people got tape players this Christmas," declared Turner. "We're talking 40 to 50 year olds who are coming in and saying that they just got a cassette player and now need 'the dang thing in the box that you put into it.' "

Both Budget's Lasky and Record Bar's Holloway work big enough chains to see different cassette/LP ratios in different markets. For instance, Lasky found that secondary, tertiary and rural markets went beyond cassette parity more rapidly than urban centers because "when you get out in those markets, kids cruise more and farmers need cassettes for their tractors and pickups." Consequently, Lasky has discovered that his last 8-track markets have not gone cassette, "maybe because of 8-track cassette converters."

In Lasky's metropolitan areas, heavy metal stores have bigger cassette margins than wider demographic stores. College campus stores such as chain outlets in Boulder and Albuquerque, however, show LPs ahead by 2:1. "It's hard to say exactly why this is so, maybe they tap more," opined Lasky.

Holloway also noted that the college store "down the street" at Chapel Hill was disc heavy at 3.5:1 due to "a lot of college kids having stereos in the dorms." On the other end was the Record Bar outlet in Gallup, N.M., which was 7:1 cassettes due to its location near an Indian reservation. "They get money from the federal government on the 15th and 30th of every month for coal rights, and then come in and buy nothing but head-banging heavy metal cassettes for cruising up and down the reservation," explained Holloway, who found the same pattern at military outlets in Jacksonville, N.C. and Savannah, Ga. "We blow out heavy metal cassettes there," he said, noting that cramped barracks and dorm space necessitated the cassette configuration in these areas.

Artist Profile

Deborah Allen

by Anita M. Wilson

NASHVILLE — The country music industry rarely sees an artist have the "overnight" success Deborah Allen is currently enjoying. After being signed to RCA Records less than one year ago, she has earned an array of nominations including Grammys, had a Top-5 hit with her first RCA single and been asked to be a guest on some of the top talk shows in the country.

Allen's success began mounting with the release of "Baby I Lied," which garnered a Top-5 spot on the Cash Box Country Charts. The song was the first release from her album "Cheat The Night" which is currently in the Top-20 on the album charts. On the success of the song and album Deborah has been asked to be a guest on Merv Griffin, Solid Gold, American Bandstand and Thicke Of The Night. To top off the year, Allen has been nominated for two Grammy's in the Best Country Vocal Performance, Female category for "Baby I Lied" where she will be competing against such country music luminaries as Dolly Parton, Crystal Gayle, Anne Murray and Emmylou Harris. Allen was also nominated in the Best New Country Song which she co-wrote with husband Rafe Van Hoy and Rory Bourke.

Allen was raised in Memphis, TN along with two sisters where she developed her talent for singing. With the support of her parents, Allen began singing a variety of styles in school plays and local bands. In 1973 Allen moved to Nashville to pursue a musical career. She soon joined the Showboat cast at Opryland U.S.A. where she says she met the people she has grown up with in the music business such as Don Cook, who was working at the time in the country show and is now a hit songwriter.

After her first year at Opryland, Allen was chosen to travel to Russia with Tennessee Ernie Ford. Shortly after returning to Nashville Allen got a contract to sing at the Hall of Fame Soundtrack Lounge where she met Shel Silverstein and invited him to one of her performances. "He told me I had a real good voice, but so do a whole lot of people. I was afraid of what he was going to say when he continued and said I should get into songwriting because writing will stay with you forever." Allen immediately started songwriting with the encouragement of Silverstein and credits this as the turning point in her career.

At this time Allen was finishing her contract at Opryland when Jim Stafford saw her and invited her to join his television show as a dancer and singer in Los Angeles. During the summer replacement show Allen became known as the "singer who moves well." During this time she continued her songwriting not only as a job, but also as therapy. After 2½ years in Los Angeles she moved back to Nashville when her friends began splitting up or going their own ways. She decided to move because she "had friends in Nashville who would accept me whether I was a success or a failure and also because Rafe (her husband) was here."

Upon arriving in Nashville Allen signed a songwriting contract with MCA Music where she wrote "Danger: Heartbreak Ahead" with Don Cook, which Zella Lehr made into a Top-20 hit. "It was my first song to be recorded by another artist. I had always been writing songs for myself and it was a great feeling to hear someone else do one of my songs."

Allen was busy doing demo's around town and was talking to Rupert Perry at Capitol about signing when Bud Logan heard her sing some songs at a #1 party for John Conlee. He asked her to sing some duets with RCA's Jim Reeves. Two of the tunes became Top-10 hits for the duo. After the success of the songs RCA and Jerry Bradley began expressing interest in signing Allen, but she went with Capitol. She recorded one album "Trouble In Paradise" which contained several charted singles.

After 2½ years with Capitol, Allen decided she needed to "either re-group and decide what to do or go on and call it quits." She signed with RCA Records. Allen had previously recorded "Baby I Lied" for Capitol but the song was lost in the shuffle and never released. RCA bought the rights to the song and released it as her first single for them and the tune went to #4 on the country charts.

Throughout her changes at labels, Allen continued her songwriting efforts with husband Rafe Van Hoy, Rory Bourke, Eddie Struzick, Steve Diamond, Don Cook, Dan Seals, Kix Brooks, Kieran Kane and Bruce Chanel among others. A number of her songs have been recorded by such artists as Rita Coolidge, Sheena Easton, Diana Ross, Millie Jackson and T.G. Sheppard among others, besides the two #1 singles she co-wrote, "Don't Worry Bout Me Baby" for Janie Fricke and "I'm Only In It For The Love" for John Conlee.

Cassette Sales Increase Say Retailers, Labels

by Anita M. Wilson

NASHVILLE — Over the past 18 months, retailers and record labels have been reporting increasing cassette sales in country music with some reports of cassettes selling up to 60 percent of the LP/tape business. The demise of the 8-track, increased popularity of Walkmans, ghetto blasters and car stereos have all been credited with the rise in cassette sales. A more mobile society has also contributed to the popularity of the tape. Record labels have recently been making concerted efforts to increase tape quality and have been studying ways to improve merchandising and packaging of the cassette.

Last year most record companies discontinued manufacturing 8-tracks and the result has been a marked increase in cassette sales throughout the industry.

"There's been a dramatic change in cassette sales over the past one and a half years," stated Roy Wunsch, vice president marketing CBS Records. "Initially when we eliminated 8-tracks last year there was concern that even though the 8-track sales had been eroding, there wouldn't be a vehicle to provide the country consumer with a configuration that was still a significant part of our overall building picture. However consumers made a part dramatic switch to cassettes and on the average, cassettes now account for about 50 percent of sales being compared to LPs."

Joe Polidor, country marketing director, PolyGram Records, concurred with Wunsch on reporting a 50 percent cassette share. Polidor also stated the sales increased because "manufacturers have by and large eliminated 8-tracks," and secondly because "consumers have upgraded their equipment from 8-track to cassette." He also added that PolyGram had noticed a dramatic increase in cassette sales in other areas of music price to the demise of 8-tracks.

Other music executives contributed the increase to moves by the trucking industry. "All the truckers are converting to cassettes or have converted and this has been a great growth factor for us because the cassettes are doing just fantastic and in certain areas of the country they are outselling LPs," stated Chic Doherty, vice president marketing, MCA Records.

RCA Records have also realized an increase in cassette sales, especially with crossover artists such as Deborah Allen and Ronnie Milsap while sales for Alabama "have gone crazy" with reported sales of 60-40 percent cassettes over LPs.

Retailers have also noticed the old die hard 8-track customer is switching to cassettes and are therefore buying more than the usual amount of cassettes because they are supplementing their catalogs with old favorites that they may have already had on 8-track, in addition to the current releases. Mike Duncan with Cactus in Houston also stated that while parents and children may be interested in different forms of music, both can make use of the other's equipment such as cassette recorders. Increased sales of 8-track converters to cassette have also been noticed to a great degree, according to Roy Wunsch.

THE COUNTRY MIKE

SPREADING THE HOLIDAY CHEER — WUBE/Cincinnati was busy during the holidays by holding a contest where five different listeners could win a 105 second shopping spree at local Kroger grocery stores. A sixth shopping spree was staged on the day before Thanksgiving when morning air personality Larry Boelter did the 105 second run himself. Everything that he picked up, including 86 whole chickens, were donated later to Cincinnati's "Free Store" for distribution to needy families for Thanksgiving dinner. The other five winners all headed straight for the seafood and meat departments. One winner, Jim Schwierling, walked away with a total of $1,635.93 of groceries including over $1,500 of seafood and meats. Boelter did his show live from Kroger each time the station held shopping spree including a play by play of the run. WUBE's director of marketing/promotion Holly Leiser said the sprees were so successful that even those who did not win were cheering the winners on.

WILLIE IN WASHINGTON — Main Street recording artist Boxcar Willie (r) was recently in Washington D.C. to make a presentation to the Smithsonian Institute. While in the Capitol he stopped by WMZQ where he was a special guest joining morning personality Jim London (l) and partner John Ogle (c) on their show on which he answered calls from station listeners and performed two songs including his most popular tune, "The Train Medley."

A GIANT GET WELL WISH — KWEN/Tulsa sent RCA recording artist Louise Mandrell a special get well message earlier this month in the form of a giant four foot by six foot greeting card signed by the staff of KWEN and citizens of Tulsa. The giant card was available for signing at the Southroads Mall and at Duke's Country in Tulsa. Recent health difficulties made it necessary for Mandrell to cancel an appearance for KWEN.

STATION CHANGES — Bob Proffitt, sales manager at KBRQ/Denver has announced Nicole Boiteau, Cynthia Spicer, and Jim Olenick as additions to the station sales staff. Boiteau was formerly a marketing staff associate with National Life of Vermont. Spicer was formerly the 7 p.m.-midnight air personality at KPKE/Denver. Olenick was an account executive for KICT/Wichita for the past five years. . . WTOD/Toledo general manager Clyde Roberts has appointed Jon D. Riggs as account executive for WTOD and sister station WKLR/Toledo . . . WWVA and WCPI/Wheeling vice president and general manager J. Ross Felton has appointed Jim Forsyth as news director for the stations. The position was formerly held by John Price who is now news director for WTRF-TV. Prior to joining the staff in 1979, Forsyth served as news director for KSMN and KLSS/Mason City, Iowa and was affiliated with WIUS/Bloomington and WWWY/Columbus.

ELVIS BIRTHDAY SPECIAL — WWWW/Detroit will air a special weekend of music to commemorate what would have been Elvis Presley's 49th birthday. Featured was music from the performer and a special contest for the listeners. One listener won a 19-inch high collectors item vinyl Elvis Presley doll with Presley wearing a white suit with gold trim, white boots, and scarf. The doll is hand painted and comes with a certificate of authenticity from World Doll, Inc., the makers of the doll.

STATION CLOSE UP — This year marks the 16th anniversary for WTOD/Toledo to program country music. Looking back at the station in the late 1960s, it started as a station that aired "countrypolitan" music and the air personalities were known as "the country gentlemen." Bob Martz was the general manager of the station and some of the "country gentlemen" were Jerry Starr, Rick Cochran, and Mike Phillips. In 1968, a fire destroyed the original broadcast studios but broadcasting was continued in trailers brought from Detroit. Some of the promotions that began in those early days are still active today, such as the Penny Pitch campaign, visits to the Lucas County Fair and election of the Fair Queen.

ALBUM REVIEWS

BILL MONROE AND FRIENDS — Bill Monroe — MCA — 5435 — Producer: Walter Haynes — List 8.98 — Bar Coded

Monroe gathered together a slew of country artists for his latest album which is appropriately titled, "Bill Monroe And Friends." Some of the artists featured performing duets with Monroe on the LP in include The Oak Ridge Boys for "Blue Moon Of Kentucky;" Willie Nelson on "The Sunset Trail;" Barbara Mandrell on "My Rose Of Kentucky" and other country luminaries such as Johnny Cash, Emmylou Harris, Larry Gatlin And The Gatlin Brothers, Waylon Jennings, John Hartford and Mel Tillis. Each cut starts off with Monroe welcoming the artist to the project and the artists reciprocating their feelings on being asked to join Monroe. Traditional country songs dominate the LP with fiddles, mandolins, rhythm guitars and a banjo adding a spicy foot stompin', hand clappin' touch.

LITTLE BY LITTLE — Gene Watson And His Farewell Band — MCA 5440 — Producer: Russ Reeder and Gene Watson — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

"Little By Little" offers a conventional country blend of powerful tunes revolving around lost love and the memories which ensue. Watson delivers his latest single "Drinkin' My Way Back Home" with a good-timin' honky-tonk sound, while "Leavin's Been Comin' (For A Long Time)," cowritten with Sonny Throckmorton, offers true-to-life lyrics and allows Watson to feature his vocal abilities to full potential. The title song "Little By Little" typifies the feelings which accompany the pain of a gradually dying relationship. Guitar licks, piano and fiddles round out the instrumental portion of this production.

Country Cassette Sales Up

A more mobile society has also been credited with improved cassette sales. "You always see someone jogging with a Walkman or walking around carrying a ghetto blaster," stated Randy Goodman. People are always on the go now and its an obvious switch. Not that many people sit at home any more. We're much more of a mobile society and that has resulted in increased cassette sales." Lou Garrett at Camelot in Canton, Ohio agreed with Goodman by stating "people are staying less at home, but they want their music wherever they go." Roy Wunsch added that "the way Sony a couple of years ago promoted Walkman's also had some impact," however it is not clear how much the impact was on country music.

The trend is pointing towards cassettes shortly selling more than LPs. Currently LPs are averaging a 50 percent sales ratio to cassette, however speculation has been mounting that this equality will lessen with cassettes taking as much as 70-80 percent of the sales. All labels and retailers agree that LPs will always be around, but will take a less significant role in the business. "In the case of reducing LPs, I don't think that's a big factor, it's just that you used to have three configurations, the LP, 8-track doing 40-50 percent in country and cassette running about 10 percent, explained Chic Doherty. Now cassettes have taken over the 8-track and we're enjoying a new business." Joe Polidor agreed that the 12-inch platter will always be around, but "you will be seeing a decrease in the amount of LPs to some extent as marketing of cassettes gets better and as the compact disc becomes more entrenched as a form of software." Jim Rose at Rose Records concurred with the trend pointing towards cassettes dominating the market.

Labels have geared up for the marketing of cassettes over the past two years to make the consumer more aware of the cassette. Special promotions, television and radio advertising and mid-line packaging are a few of the marketing efforts labels have been implementing. CBS reports there has been an ongoing marketing effort over the past 2-3 years with an emphasis on "including copy lines and advertising on the radio and television telling the consumer that their music is available on LP as well as cassettes," stated Roy Wunsch. Other labels such as MCA have been offering music on cassettes "some of them for the first time on cassette," explained Chic Doherty. MCA has also been offering cassettes as part of a mid-line and $5.98 series.

Twin packaging and special programs have also been initiated at PolyGram in an effort to heighten the consumer's awareness of cassettes. RCA states that they have had an ongoing cassette sales program to "emphasize country music as a mobile form of music," exclaimed Randy Goodman.

One of the major hurdles the industry has to surpass is the quality of sound on a cassette. Most labels agree that one of their main objectives is to improve the sound quality regardless of the fact that the average consumer will not be aware of the improvement. Some labels such as PolyGram have gone as far as to set up a committee to study what steps need to be taken in order to improve the quality of tapes. Most retailers agree that while cassette sound is improving, LPs usually tend to have a better sound, however some retailers including Lou Garrett at Camelot have already noticed an improvement in sound quality from Capitol and Warner Bros. "With the new technology available, if you're able to get the quality of music on cassette as on LP, that for sheer storage and convenience purposes alone would convince you to buy a cassette because it occupies a smaller space," Roy Wunsch summed up.

Consequently some changes will take place with the increased cassette sales, primarily in the retail section. Increased visibility in the stores is of major importance since cassettes in stores today are usually on the side of the store locked away in some cabinets. Retailers will also either need less space in their stores or offer other products to occupy the space once taken up by LPs. Labels are also having to find new ways to offer liner notes, photos and credits on LPs also on cassettes. Some suggestions so far have been booklets placed with the tape or posters displayed next to the cassettes. Another important change that may take place is the actual size of the cassette. Some industry personnel have suggested that the size may eventually be the size it is now.

Mandrell Entertainment Facility To Open On Music Row

NASHVILLE — MCA recording artist Barbara Mandrell has announced that plans have been finalized with a local investment partnership, CRC Equities, Inc., to open a new Music Row attraction Barbara Mandrell Country.

The 1,500 square foot facility will be located across from the Country Music Hall of Fame and Museum and is scheduled to be in operation for the 1984 tourist season. "I've considered having my own attraction for fans to enjoy for a long time, Mandrell stated. "The time is right, and the location is perfect, right in the heart of Music Row. I am now involved in a project to provide visitors to Nashville with a spectacular attraction. I want them to make Barbara Mandrell Country their home away from home in Music City."

The entertainment facility will offer a walking tour of the entertainer's life from her childhood to present day. Some features highlighted will include a trophy room, displaying every award she has won; her favorite guitars, saxophones, steel guitars and Dobros; all her albums; the actual set from her Las Vegas show, plus scripts, director's chairs and other items from the Barbara Mandrell and The Mandrell Sisters television show. A scrapbook will display Mandrell's multi-faceted life as seen through the eyes of her parents, sisters and husband.

The entertainment complex will also offer a gift shop with original items designed by Barbara. A recording studio will also be available for viewing by the visitors, and a special hospitality area will be available to tour directors and drivers.

"Roll On Mississippi" reached the #6 position.

ALBUM REVIEWS

CELEBRATION — Tami Gunden — Light Records — LS5830 — Producer: Joe Huffman

On her first album, Tami Gunden delivers her message via a collection of rock/pop songs sung with distinct enthusiasm and sincerity. The album features three songs written by Michael W. Smith and Deborah Smith, including "Friends," "You Can Try," and the title cut. Although Gunden is a new artist she doesn't settle for second best. The combination of her polished vocals, a first-rate band, and a collection of well written songs makes "Celebration" a winner.

SONG OF THE ANGELS — DannieBelle — Onyx International Records RO3838 — Producer: DannieBelle Hall

DannieBelle's latest is a Christmas album. Although the majority of the songs are traditional carols, DannieBelle's renditions make them seem brand new. "Song of the Angels" features two new songs written by Dannie Belle Hall including "He is the King" and the title cut. The album also includes a traditional African song, called "African Noel."

A CALL TO US ALL — Teri DeSario — Day Spring 7014113011 — Producer: Bill Purse

Teri DeSario is a newcomer to the Gospel music industry, but she is not new to music. In the seventies, she had a number one A/C hit with K.C. and the Sunshine Band. "A Call To Us All" is an album with a rock and roll flavor, but Teri DeSario has a style all her own. The title cut stresses the importance of unity in the world.

THE RHYTHM SECTION

HOT DANCE WAX — Cash Box has been on the phone over the past few weeks, checking out dance action in nitespots around the country, and we've picked up a number of interesting reports. Among the current hits are Grand Mixer D. St.'s "Crazy Cuts," Malcolm McLaren's "Do Ya Like Scratchin'," the U.K. group Language's single "Touch The Radio Dance," Michael Des Barres and Holly Night's duet "Obsession" from the "A Night In Heaven" soundtrack, I.R.S.'s "Prepare to Energize," The Commodores' "Turn Off The Lights," Shalamar's "Dateline U.S.A." entry on the "D.C. Cab" soundtrack album, France Joll's "A Girl In The '80s" and last but not least, The Rolling Stones' sizzling "Too Much Blood" from the "Undercover" Long-player.

STREET NEWS — The temptation must have been too much to resist for former Temptation Dennis Edwards, who has just wrapped up his first solo album for Motown entitled "Don't Look Any Further." The L.A. based company is also making plans to release several LPs by new and developing artists in the near future, including product from Rockwell called "Somebody's Watching," Kid Glove's "Hell's A 'Rocking," Keith and Darrell's "Work That Body," as well as a platter by a performer who calls herslef Mona Lisa Young . . . With news of the recent Grammy Awards nominations, came more streettalk about Michael Jackson's plans for this year. Seems word around Southern California is that Michael's already planning a followup to the supersmash "Thriller" album, and he may be doing a duet with none other than the Chairman of the Board himself, Frank Sinatra. If it's true, the result could be one of the more outrageous recordings to come along in quite a while.

PROMO FIRM BOWS — With the music business changing so rapidly, promotion firms are forced to adapt and one company that has done this is the four month old New York based Pro Motion, headed by Brad LeBeau and Joe Giaco. The firm's clients are not just record companies. Producers and managers, utilize Pro Motion's umbrella design of services as well. According to LeBeau, "This business of record promotion is more than just mailing records, there is a great deal of followup involved." This followup process utilizes the firm's marketing division, keyed in to over 400 retail accounts. Pro Motion handles everything from arranging personal appearances, to supplying copies for in-store play. The marketing division is utilized on the radio end as well and sees more viability than ever before, for a true coming together in radio of urban contemporary and new music formats.

ON JAZZ

STOMPIN' AT SAVOY — The revived Savoy label makes its debut next month with its first batch of releases in over two years. Joe Fields, new proprietor of Herman Lubinsky's classic blues, jazz, and early R&B catalog has set a schedule of six releases a year, to alternate with Muse titles. Among the highlights of the first batch of Savoy titles is a never before released session. Entitled "I Hear Ya Talkin'", the new disc is a Frank Wess date featuring Thad Jones, Hank Jones, Curtis Fuller, Gus Johnson, Charlie Fowlkes and Eddie Jones. One of the mysteries surrounding the last Savoy reissue program was the absence of Curtis Fuller's "Blues-ette" LP featuring Tommy Flanagan, Benny Golson, Jimmy Garrison and Al Harewood. Pine no more — it's in this batch. Also forthcoming are: "First, Lasting and Always" by Johnny Hartman, featuring the singer's first recordings: "Relaxin' At Camarillo" by Hank Jones with Bobby Jaspar, Paul Chambers, and Kenny Clarke; "Climbin' Up," by Brownie McGhee and Sonny Terry; and "Fidgety Feet" by the Seventh Avenue Stompers with Buster Bailey, Vic Dickenson, Rex Stewart, and Bobbie Donaldson. Incidentally, sister label Muse has just released three titles: "Future's Gold," by saxophonist Ricky Ford with Larry Coryell, Jimmy Cobb, Ray Drummond and Albert Dailey; "Moon Bird" by California vibraphonist Dave Pike with Ron Eschete and Tom Ranier; and "The Legendary Little Theater Concert of 1964, Vol. 1&2" by Earl Hines (see accompanying review).

JAZZ IS A PROCESS OF DISCOVERY — Albert Marx's triumvirate of labels, Musicraft, Trend, and Discovery, have a quartet of new titles. From the historic Musicraft label is "The Man I Love" by Sarah Vaughan (see review), while pianist Bill Mays leads a quintet featuring Tom Harrell, Shelly Manne, Ralph Moore and Andy Simpkins through "Tha's Delight" on Trend. Two saxophonists join the Discovery roster with new albums: "Signals. . .In From Somewhere" by baritonist Nick Brignola features Bill Dobbins on piano, John Lockwood on bass and David Calarco on drums; and "The Prophet" by alto saxophonist Charles McPherson with Mike Wofford, Andy Simpkins and Donald Bailey, Sr.

UNDERGROUND NEW YORK — Although the average jazz label is comparatively small by industry standards, some of them are positively miniscule. Obscurity is no reason for death though, so herewith a few items: The Brooklyn-based Daybreak Express Records is a mail-order and retail operation specializing in jazz. Located on Seventh Ave. in the borough's Park Slope section, the outfit specializes in hard-to-find titles (but not out-of-print material), and handles numerous small and artist-owned labels that do not have national distribution. Among their most notable new titles are "Mixin' with Mixon" by pianist Dannie Mixon on the Cinderella label; "Holdin' On," by Carl and Joann Barry on D'Angelico Records (he's a guitarist, she's a singer); and "Mister Spats" on the Track label, an LP of vocal and instrumental cuts by a Brooklyn-based outfit featuring vocalist June Bisantz, keyboardist Steve Evans, drummer Bobby Moses and trumpeter Lew Soloff. Incidentally, Daybreak Express publishes a catalog listing approximately 10,000 LP's on over 300 labels. The firm's telephone number is (212) 499-0487 . . . And speaking of small labels and catalogs, Manhattan's New Music Distribution Service has just published its 1984 catalog, listing all the available titles on its jazz, contemporary classical, and experimental labels (and it's probably the only record catalog ever with an introduction by Nat Hentoff). NMDS is located at 500 Broadway, New York, N.Y. 10012. The telephone number is (212) 925-2121.

AROUND TOWN — Although the holiday season is supposed to be the hot period for music clubs, New York club owners show little interest in a post-holiday slowdown. This week, Seventh Avenue South is running the gamut, with The Gil Evand Orchestra, Julie Coryell's Fifth House featuring John Abercrombie, Benny Wallace with John Scofield, and Elements featuring Mark Egan, Danny Gottlieb, Clifford Carter and Bill Evans . . . After a week of shows by New York's Sphere featuring Charlie Rouse, Buster Williams, Ben Riley and Kenny Barron, Lush Life turns the other coast with The Bobby Hutcherson Quartet featuring George Cables . . . The Blue Note has not-so-little Esther Phillips, while Sweet Basil is presenting Amiri Baraka's musical, Primitive World, with music by David Murray.

FEATURE PICKS

THE BRIGHTEST SMILE IN TOWN — Dr. John — Clean Cuts CC 707 — Producers: Jack Heyerman & Ed Levine — List: 8.98

Although known to most fans for his voodoo rock of the late sixties and seventies, Dr. John was also a mainstay of the New Orleans R&B session scene during the fifties, and his recent recordings for Clean Cuts have been an exploration of his roots. With both Professor Longhair and James Booker gone, Dr. John remains the premiere proponent of the two-fisted, rolling boogie piano style indigenous to the Crescent City. Guaranteed to rock the juke joint.

THE MAN I LOVE — Sarah Vaughan — Musicraft MVS 2002 — Producer: Albert Marx — List: 8.98

Musicraft continues its reissue program of Sarah Vaughan recordings from the forties with this collection culled largely from orchestra dates. The material is almost strictly standards and show tunes, and while the arrangements are mainstream, Vaughan's vocals are anything but pedestrian. The quality of transfer work from 78s to LP is only fair, but Vaughan's approach to the tunes is clear and unaffected, overcoming any technical shortcomings.

LYRIC SUITE FOR SEXTET — Chick Corea & Gary Burton — ECM 1260 — Producer: Manfred Eicher — List: 9.98

The pairing of pianist Corea and vibraphonist Burton has been a fortunate one for ECM: their previous recordings, most noticably "Crystal Silence," have been among the label's bestsellers. This time, the duo tries something different with an extended suite for a sextet featuring strings. Alternating between exaltation and introspection, the composition travels a path familiar to Corea and Burton's fans, yet embellishes it enough to make the date individual.

THE LEGENDARY LITTLE THEATER CONCERT OF 1964, Vols. 1&2 — Earl Hines — Muse MR 2001-2 — Producer: Gary Giddens — List: 11.98

The Fatha up close. This two-record set features the complete recordings of Hines' 1964 concert at The Little Theater in New York. With the exception of three tracks with saxophonist Budd Johnson, it's strictly the pianist in front of a trio, showcasing his sprightly yet commanding style. A must for pianists and buffs.

U.S. Jazz Labels Buying Japanese LPs

by Fred Goodman

NEW YORK — Japan, long considered a strong market for jazz recordings made in the United States, is supplying more and more finished albums by American artists to our own domestic labels. Recent releases on several labels — including Elektra/Musician, Antilles, Columbia, Muse, and GNP Records — feature newly available recordings by such American musicians as Steve Khan, Miles Davis, Thelonious Monk, Lee Ritenour, David Mathews and Richie Cole that were originally made for the Japanese market. These recordings, which vary in age, are finding their way to American catalogs with greater frequency for a variety of reasons.

"I don't think it's really a question of putting it out now as opposed to not putting it out earlier," said Jim Fishel, executive producer for Columbia's Contemporary Masters series, a line that includes four double-albums of material — three by Thelonious Monk and one by Miles Davis — previously available in Japan. "Good material is good material," he said, "and CBS had such a plethora of good material it wasn't necessary. Obviously, in the case of Monk, it's a duplication, but 'Miles In Tokyo' is definitely different because it features Sam Rivers. We'd been planning to put the stuff out for years."

At Elektra/Musician, Japanese-made recordings finding their way into the Musician catalog have had a decidedly more commercial and contemporary bent, including an album by saxophonist Sadao Watanabe and several by guitarist Lee Ritenour.

"Sadao was signed by Warner/Pioneer in Japan," reported Bruce Lundvall, president of Elektra Records. "When I was at Columbia and that label had Sadao, we had one album that sold 100,000 copies so I was extremely excited about working with him again."

In the case of Lee Ritenour, who was signed to Elektra as a fusion artist prior to the advent of the Musician label, there were three existing LPs done for JVC Records in Japan which Lundvall felt "weren't in the typical vein" of the guitarist's work for Elektra but would work well on Musician. The first of those albums released here, "Rio," has far surpassed Lundvall's expectations, selling in excess of 100,000 copies.

At Antilles, Ron Goldstein, president of Island Records, U.S. and Canada, has released albums by pianist/songwriter Ben Sidran and guitarist Steve Khan that were initially recorded for and released in Japan. Goldstein said that while Sidran's first record for Antilles was obtained from the Japanese, his second was a joint venture between Antilles and Sidran's Japanese label. In the case of Steve Khan, three albums already exist in Japan, and Antilles plans to release at least two of them.

While each label has had a different reason for obtaining Japanese recordings, they are in agreement on one point: as a rule, the recordings are high quality. "They're making good recordings over there," said Lundvall, "and they've proven to be a good source of high quality records. They can do some things that we can't, but in the end, I'd prefer to make my records here because I can have more control over the content. In some cases, the Japanese recordings may be too commercial." Adds Fishel: "The Japanese did a hell of a job recording these artists."

For The Record

LOS ANGELES — In the January 14 issue of Cash Box, an article regarding "Early '84 Album Releases" erroneously referred to the MCA soundtrack to the motion picture Lonely Guy as Lonely Dice. Also, the MCA group Chameleons U.K. was accidentally listed as two bands — U.K., Chameleons.

INTERNATIONAL DATELINE

Argentina

BUENOS AIRES — Top local booking agent Daniel Grinbank just added two other names to the impressive roster of his agency: Rosario-born top rock artist Juan Carlos Baglietto, one of the originators of the new orientation of rock music concerning urban problems in Argentina (while Leon Gieco, years ago, started a fusion with country & western and Argentinian folk), and Monica Posse, a chantress in the Bonnie Tyler mood who has shown interesting signs of success during 1983. Grinbank handles Charly Garcia, Mercedes Sosa and other artists, and is also a record producer, with his albums distributed by Interdisc.

Sales reorts about December have been optimistic and many dealers are now looking ahead to a good year, in spite of 10 percent monthly price increases foreseen by the government and a 30 percent hike in gasoline prices earmarked to reduce government deficits. Inflation during the last year has been around the 500 percent level, an astonishing mark for those who worry in the United States or Europe about 4 percent. However, the "black market dollar," which is easily obtainable, plummeted from 29 pesos to 21.50 after Raul Alfonsin, the president proposed by the Union Civica Radical party, was elected October 30 and closed the year at a mere 25.50. One leading distributor told Cash Box his sales had been 30 percent in excess of last year's, and the Chamber of Record Producers released statistics regarding November which showed sales to retailers exceeding 1,600,000 units, the highest for such a month since 1980, which was considered a very good year. December may have been a 900,000+ month, and if January keeps being good the labels will be able to recoup the hefty investments in television campaigns most of them made in the recent past.

Mario Kaminsky of Microfon reports an increase of releases from Latin American labels like EDISA of Uruguay and Music Shop from Peru, appealing to the market in the interior of the country. For sound buffs he is planning the re-release of several Audio Fidelity U.S. albums, one of the first catalogs ever handled by this company. Several artists from Ariola (like Angela Carrasco, Camilo Sesto and Mexican star Jose Jose) will also receive the V.I.P. treatment in the near future.

Leo Bentivoglio of PolyGram reports about a series of appearances to be fulfilled by melodic star Sergio Denis, whose recent album, "Reflections," is selling soundly. Denis will perform in Mar del Plata, Miramar and other summer resorts on the Atlantic coast, and it is expected that these dates will further enhance the appeal of his waxing.

CBS promotion manager Norberto Tejero reports folk artists Las Voces de Oran, Cara i Mula, Chango Nieto, Julia Elena Davalos, Los Manseros Santiaguenos and maybe Eduardo Falu will be at the Cosquin Folk Festival to be held in the province of Cordoba next week. It has been decided to strongly promote the image of these artists through personal appearances, radio, press and TV coverage.

MILAN — Alfredo Rossi, president of Ariston Records, announced a program of development for 1984, with the signing of many new artists. Stephen Schlaks (previously with Baby), Fiorella Mannoia (previously with CGD), Antonio & Marcello (previously with Jingle) and Umberto Bindi (previously with Targa) — and the organization of a new affiliated society, La Nave, which will manage the recording studios of the group. Ariston also signed an agreement with the British label Stiff, formerly with RCA, for distribution of its catalogue on the Italian market.

Daniele Doglio resigned from his post of A&R and marketing manager of CGD Dischi, effective Dec. 1. His charges will be directly absorbed by Sandro Delor, CGD Dischi general manager.

Davide Matalon, managing director of Ducale, recently announced the signing of agreements with two jazz-oriented U.S. labels, Nautilus and Pausa, for licensing repertoires in Italy.

The "Musica e Dischi" awards, following a poll among 100 Italian record critics, were announced this month to proclaim the best records released in 1983: in the opera section the winners were Wagner's "L'Anello del Nibelungo" directed by Wilhelm Furtwangler (Cetra) and "Tristano e Isotta" directed by Leonard Bernstein (Philips); in the classical section Rossini's "Album de Chaumiere" by Dino Ciani (Cetra) and "Rituel" directed by Pierre Boulez (CBS) were the winners in the jazz section, while "Bollicine" by Vasco Rossi (Carosello) received two awards. In the M.O.R. and rock section, together, respectively, "Synchronicity" by the Police (A&M) and "Infidels" by Bob Dylan (CBS) wor the honors.

United Kingdom

LONDON — Gallup, compiler of the UK record industry's charts, has launched an official Record Labels Register. It came into practice on January 1, and has the support of the BPI and the ILA (Independent Record Labels Association). The register will check the use of label names, prefixes and catalog numbers of all record companies trading or about to commence trading in the UK.

This is a major move to bring an end to the confusion that exists in the industry caused by duplication of label names and catalog numbers. Over recent years the problem has escalated because of the rapid growth of new labels. There are at least 1,500 record labels, using at least 10,000 variations of catalog numbers. However the real size of the problem is estimated at four times as big.

Four thousand labels are active in the independent sector alone, ranging from established labels to one man front-room operations. The rate at which these labels use up catalog numbers is so great that serious problems occur. Catalog numbers are not only essential for ordering, but for compiling the chart. Duplication of catalog names and numbers is now occuring at the rate of two or three cases per week. Major record companies have now added to the confusion by the now fashionable practice of using personalized catalog numbers for major recording artists, such as BOW 1, for David Bowie, and Twins 2, for The Thompson Twins.

Gallup will control registration of label names, prefixes and catalog numbers on behalf of the 100 or so BPI members. The ILA, which was founded in 1981 as a central information service for the independent labels, will act as a clearing house for all those existing independent labels, including those distributed by a major label, whose label information may be easily duplicated through lack of commercial awareness. In addition, the ILA will act as a vital reference point for record labels seeking to trade in the future. Through this link-up, Gallup is able to use the ILA's unique position within the industry to draw in this largely uncharted section of the market.

Gallup will ensure that all BPI members give correct and up to date information to the register. All independent labels should immediately register information with the ILA.

Record companies failing to clear label details through the register run a major risk of missing out on chart action. Gallup's computer recognizes only one record for one number — so if duplicates exist, sales will be awarded to the first record that registered. The register will aim to inform all parties where duplicates are already known to exist.

An annual registration fee will be paid by the BPI on behalf of its members. All independent record labels will be charged a registration fee of $28.75, which will include registration of all prefixes and catalog numbers in use.

Around The Route

by Camille Compasio

Atari's executive vice president of sales Jerry Marcus took to the road on January 9 to officiate at three major territorial showings of the new "Firefox" machine for factory distributors. Timetable included presentations in San Francisco (1/9) at the Hyatt Burlingame; in Chicago (1/10) at the Sheraton O'Hare; and in New York (1/12) at the Sheraton LaGuardia. Atari is dedicating "Firefox" to the memory of Don Osborne with a tribute on the track mode. A fine gesture for a very special human being. Everyone we spoke with this past week was still in shock over Don's sudden death, December 31, of a massive heart attack. The phrase "he looked so good, so healthy" was repeated over and over again. Some things just cannot be explained. Suffice it to say, he left his mark in the industry, and among the people who knew him and worked with him. May he rest in peace.

Mylstar prexy Boyd Brown, accompanied by marketing chief John von Leesen were in Las Vegas for the recent CES convention . . . Understand a number of trade people planned to attend this show as observers . . . While the CES is primarily consumer product oriented, one of the coin-op pieces scheduled to be

Juke Ops Told To Pay $50 Fee

LOS ANGELES — Jukebox owners around the country have recently been notified by the Copyright and Royalty Tribunal (CRT) in Washington D.C. that they are required to pay a registration fee in 1984 of $50 per box. The once-a-year assessment is up from last year's fee of $25 and is due by January 31.

After the $50 collections are made by CRT, they are distributed to the three major performing rights societies — ASCAP, BMI, and SESAC, who, in turn, hand out the funds to the people who composed, performed, and published the songs.

Recently the Amusement and Music Operators Association (AMOA) in conjunction with Sen. Edward Zorinsky (D-Neb.), has introduced legislation in Congress that will change the amount and frequency operators have to pay CRT. Specifically, Senate and House of Representative bills S1734 and HR3858, if adopted, call for a one-time $50 jukebox registration fee to be paid by the jukebox manufacturer at the time the machine is sold. Under the two bills, operators will also be required to pay a one-time $25 fee for every jukebox they presently have in use.

While the proposed reforms recommended by AMOA and Sen. Zorinsky, are obviously beneficial to the jukebox industry, they have infuriated certain factions of the recording business. One organization in particular, ASCAP, called a special meeting on January 10 to discuss the pending bills and the ramifications they will have for its members. At the meeting were representatives from BMI, SESAC, the American Guild of Authors and Composers, the Black Music Association, the Country Music Association, and the Nashville Songwriters Association International. ASCAP also invited people from other creative areas such as authors, dancers, graphic artists and the like to attend the meeting and participate in forming an Action Committee for the Arts to "protect the arts in all areas."

A hearing on Capitol Hill regarding S1734 and HR3858 is expected to take place this Spring. In the interim, a discussion on the subject is scheduled to take place by the House Judiciary Committee on February 23.

After experiencing a period of lean times, Game Plan, Inc. seems to be bouncing back just beautifully with their "Sharpshooter II" pinball machine — much to the utter delight of executive veepee Wendell McAdams and marketing veepee Hugh Gorman. The model was introduced at the AMOA convention, where it received rave notices, and has since been gaining steady momentum with players. December collection reports received by Game Plan place it prominently among the top pins on the market; in some instances outearning a number of the top ranking video games.

Dateline Springfield, NJ, where we spoke with Mondial's general manager Tony Yula, who's seeing signs of improvement in business as we go into a new year. It appears that conversions are continuing to play a major role in this market. As Tony pointed out, a lot of operators who cannot afford the price of expensive new machines are turning to conversions. However, there are some outstanding dedicated games that are selling extremely well; among them, Centuri's "Track & Field," which is among Mondial's strongest pieces at present. Mylstar's "M.A.C.H. 3" laserdisc is also in demand and doing very well, as Tony noted.

Center of excitement at Taito America is the "Ice Cold Beer" street piece, released last October and still going strong, as we learned from Keith Egging, veepee-project development. "Zeke's Peak," the arcade version, which was modified to comply with standards for the younger set of players and features a mountain climbing theme, is also starting to happen. In the area of conversion kits, Taito's "Elevator Action" has established an enviable record and is still in delivery. Follow-up kit is "Exerion," which is currently in shipment. Keith noted that the Qix to Zoo Keeper conversion kits are extremely successful and the ticket dispensers, which are an optional feature for "Ice Cold Beer" and "Zeke's Peak" have surpassed expectations.

Jeff Neumann, formerly of World Wide Dist., has embarked on a new venture, "Play It Again Video" which provides a "different slant on jobbing and distributing" and is aimed at helping operators to liquidate used equipment. As Jeff explained it, ops bring used equipment to him for sale at a specific price. If the games are not sold they are put up for auction, and these auctions are held on the third Saturday of every month, with PIAV collecting a commission on the pieces sold. Jeff's firm, which also handles closeouts, is located in Mount Clemens, Michigan.

'Interstellar' Laserdisc In U.S.

CHICAGO — Initial production models of the "Interstellar" laserdisc coin-operated video game, which was unveiled at the AMOA Expo '83 in New Orleans, arrived in the United States in December and are expected to be on the market by mid-January, according to Funai/ESP, distributor of the line in the U.S., Canada and the United Kingdom.

Among the many innovative features of the game are the nine speakers in the cockpit model, which include a 'bodyspeaker' under the seat so that the player can feel as well as hear the sound effects and synthesizer music composed especially for "Interstellar;" a joystick that controls horizontal movement of the rocketship, has a rapid fire 'fazer' button and may be rotated right or left to shoot at an angle; 3-D computer-generated graphics in super-intense color; and 40 different laserdisc scenarios with 21 different attack patterns.

The game theme focuses on a space adventure where the player is the fearless space ace "Ferald Runcer," equipped with Anti-Air Zapper (rapid fire button on the joystick), Fazer Gun (red button on control panel) and Burn Bombs (yellow button on control panel), who must protect himself and his universe from a wild assortment of enemies. These enemies include the Malicious Space Agents, the Air Buttle Flying Saucers, the UFO Fleet of Awful Aliens, Floating Bases of the Zogs, Ground Tanks of the Interstellar Pirate, Delta UFO's and the Mothership.

During the course of battle, the player's ally, Main Computer "Rabbit," spins and jumps in the upper right corner of the screen and ultimately comes down to assist in the attack. "Rabbit" activates the cross target which must be lined up with the enemy tanks and floating bases in order to be annihilated by the Burn Bombs.

Rotating the joystick right or left will direct Ferald Runcer's position on the screen and change his shooting angles for the Zapper, Fazer and Burn buttons. There are two sets of buttons on each side of the control board for utilization by right or left handed players.

About The Company

Funai/ESP, Inc. is a new joint venture company formed in October of 1983 to distribute the "Laserdisc Fantasy" series of coin-operated video games manufactured by Funai Electric Company Ltd. of Japan. Funai/ESP is the exclusive distributor of these games in the United States, Canada and the United Kingdom.

"Interstellar," which is the first in the Laserdisc Fantasy series, was introduced to the U.S. market at the October '83 AMOA convention in New Orleans and is expected to be installed in locations across the country by January '84.

Funai Electric Company Ltd. is known to be one of Japan's largest manufacturers of audio equipment. Funai-manufactured products are sold in the U.S. under Sears, Penneys, Radio Shack, Symphonic and other brand names. "Interstellar" is the first laserdisc video game to be produced by Funai.

Electronic Specialty Products, Inc., the other partner in Funai/ESP, Inc., is an American Public Company (NASDAQ SYMBOL ESPI) whose subsidiary, Video Games Southwest, Inc. has been in the video game business since 1980 and maintains a sizeable route operation in Nevada and Southern California.

Commenting on the newly introduced coin-operated laserdisc game, Gregory Peters, president of Electronic Specialty Products and Funai/ESP, stated, "We believe that the Funai developments in this game have exceeded current video game technology. The combination of 5-band digital stereo and 3-D computer generated visual effects on the laserdisc program together with a truly challenging game play give the player a sight and sound experience that can't be matched."

The company advised that Bally Distributing Corp. has placed a sizeable volume order for the "Interstellar" laserdisc and intends to distribute the games through its U.S. network of companies.

The game is being marketed in standard upright and cockpit versions.

Nintendo Wins Legal Judgment In Donkey Kong Case

CHICAGO — A federal district court in Manhattan has reportedly handed Nintendo of America Inc. and its parent corporation in Japan, Nintendo Co., Ltd., a victory in a trademark infringement suit instituted by Universal City Studios, Inc., a unit of MCA, Inc. The Nintendo companies are major manufacturers of video games. According to reports by Nintendo, Universal had claimed that Nintendo's immensely popular video arcade game "Donkey Kong" violated Universal's rights in the name and character King Kong. The District Court disagreed and granted summary judgment for Nintendo.

King Kong first appeared as a book and magazine serial in 1932. The giant ape achieved its classic status as a result of the 1933 RKO movie starring Fay Wray. District Judge Robert Sweet described King Kong as "a ferocious gorilla in quest of a beautiful woman who goes on rampages, chases people, crushes them under foot, or throws them to the ground, and fights with dinosaurs, giant snakes, airplanes and helicopters, all culminating in his tragic and bloody death."

The court contrasted the video arcade game Donkey Kong in which Donkey Kong uses such obstacles as "pies, cement tubs, birthday cakes and umbrellas," in an effort to thwart Mario the carpenter who, guided by the palyer, attempts to climb a structure of pink girders in his effort to reach the top of the game screen where he frees the pigtailed girl Pauline from the hands of the farcical Donkey Kong. The court found in granting summary judgment and dismissing the complaint that "no reasonable jury could find likelihood of confusion," between the two characters.

Universal instituted its action against Nintendo in June of 1982, almost nine months after Donkey Kong had achieved its commercial success in video arcades, according to the company. Donkey Kong was also produced as a home video game by Coleco under license from Nintendo as the feature game when ColecoVision was introduced in mid-1983. Over six million games have reportedly been sold.

Donkey Kong is also featured as a cereal by Ralston Purina and in over 50 other licensed products ranging from dolls to t-shirts and blankets.

Universal said it will "promptly and vigorously" pursue an appeal of the decision before the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit. The appeal is expected to be heard sometime this Spring.

New Equipment

Secret Agent Man

"Spy Hunter," the new high-speed chase game from Bally Midway, offers superb graphics and action-packed player involvement in a battle of spy versus spy. Like the greatest of secret-agent movie heroes, the Spy Hunter player controls the world's most incredible driving machine, equipped with an amazing arsenal of weapons to ward off attacks from land, sea and air.

As the tire-slashing enemy vehicles attempt to eliminate Spy Hunter, the driver must rely on a limited supply of deterrent smoke screens, oil slicks or machine guns to escape the impending doom. To add to the challenge, a deadly helicopter hovers overhead, above the target, and can only be destroyed by the vehicle's seeking missiles.

'Shuffleboard' Returns

Coin Computer Company of Troy, Michigan announced that it has acquired the worldwide manufacturing and marketing rights to the "V-Back Shuffleboard," which was designed and built over 15 years ago when it enjoyed a good measure of success. The "V" design in the table is an integral part of the play which offers the traditional shuffleboard features along with a number of variations.

Most of the units are still on location today, according to a Coin Computer spokesman, however, the product was among the victims of the video games explosion and suffered a setback when its inventor was involved in a serious accident which disabled him from continuing his work on the model.

Coin Computer has contacted a number of companies in the hope of lining up manufacturing and marketing facilities and hopes to make a further announcement in the near future.

Tic-Tac-Dough

Bally Midway's "X's & O's" pinball game has been rated as the top earning pingame on the market today, according to the latest reports received by the factory. The apparent success of this model reinforces Bally Midway's commitment to pinball and its "back to basics" philosophy established with the highly popular "8 Ball Delux."

"X's & O's" offers the challenge and excitement of traditional pinball play, an abundance of scoring features and a number of added enhancements including an electronic tic-tac-toe card which is located in the center of the playfield. When the player lights the entire card with X's or O's, one letter in "TIC-TAC-TOE" lights up on the back glass. When all letters are lit, two replays are scored.

ANNOUNCING

A special offer to CASH BOX subscribers

This 876 page book provides a complete survey of Cash Box's popular music singles charts over a 32-year period. Information that was previously available only through a search of the weekly charts themselves, has now been completely integrated via artist and song-title entries. Especially noteworthy is a week-by-week listing of song-chart positions making it possible to determine the exact position of a recording for any particular date.

The CASH BOX Singles Charts, 1950–1981

In addition to the main artist and song-title indexes, there are several unique appendixes, including: a chronological list of #1 records, the "Top Ten" records of each year, the records with the longest chart run, the most chart hits by artist, the most #1 hits by an artist, the most weeks at #1 by an artist, and most weeks at #1 by a single record.
